NEW YORK (AP) — Louis E. Wolfson, whose financial dealings dazzled Wall Street in the 1950s, and three associates have been found guilty of violating the Securities and Exchange Commission Act.

The 55-year-old multimillionaire financier was convicted by a federal jury Thursday on charges of perjury, subornation of perjury, obstruction of justice, concealing documents and filing false statements with the SEC.

Wolfson, chairman of Merritt-Chapman & Scott, a world-wide construction-shipbuilding-chemicals firm now in liquidation, faces up to 14 years in prison and a $32,000 fine.

Convicted with him were Elkin B. Gerbert of Jacksonville, Fla., a Merritt-Chapman director; Marshall G. Staub of New York, president of the company, and Joseph Kosow, whose Boston financing firm was acquired by Merritt-Chapman in 1962.

The verdict was delivered by a jury of nine men and three women on government charges that the four defendants conspired to enter into a secret agreement whereby Kosow bought Merritt-Chapman stock on the open market, then sold it back to the corporation later at "an agreed price well above the market price at the time of the agreement."

The government claimed the participants in the deal made a $4 million profit. The alleged agreements were uncovered during an SEC investigation of the behavior of Merritt-Chapman stock, the government said.

U.S. Atty. Robert M. Morgenthau said that during the SEC inquiry of Merritt-Chapman's "buy-in" program the defendants agreed among themselves "to destroy documents, commit perjury and suborn the perjury of other witnesses."

Early in the eight-week trial, U.S. District Judge Edmund L. Palmieri dropped fraud and stock manipulation charges con-

Medics Say Ike Better

WASHINGTON (AP) — Army doctors reported today that former President Dwight D. Eisenhower is feeling stronger and is "in excellent spirits" as he continues to make progress after his major heart attack.

But they said that he is still in the critical period, which generally last through the first week following any heart attack in any patient.

Eisenhower, 77, is at Walter Reed Army Hospital. He suffered on Tuesday his sixth heart attack and his third this year. A morning medical bulletin issued at the hospital said:

"Gen. Eisenhower has spent another comfortable day and night. All vital signs (blood pressure, pulse, and breathing rate) have continued to remain stable. The general is in excellent spirits this morning and is feeling stronger. The doctors are pleased with the general's progress."

Viet Village Losses Heavy In 'Mistake'

Counterfire To Red Ambush Sprays Town

SAIGON (AP) — American river forces fighting their way out of two ambushes five hours apart in the same spot accidentally sprayed a Mekong Delta village with automatic weapons fire, killing 16 South Vietnamese and wounding another 120, the U.S. Command announced today.

U.S. headquarters said one American convoy was attacked Thursday afternoon and another Thursday night as they moved along the Can Tho River near the village of Cai Rang, 83 miles southwest of Saigon. Both times some of the American counterfire went over the enemy positions along the river bank and hit the village.

In the ambushes one U.S. boat was damaged and beached, and eight Americans were wounded.

In the village 15 Vietnamese civilians and one government soldier were killed, and 105 civilians and 15 soldiers were wounded.

Casualties to the ambushing Viet Cong were not known.

At the other end of the country just below the eastern end of the demilitarized zone, South Vietnamese troops killed 107 of the enemy in the war's heaviest fighting in a month, the Saigon government reported.

Two battalions of government infantrymen supported by an armored column and fighter-bombers battled North Vietnamese troops for five hours Thursday east of Gio Linh.

Seven South Vietnamese were killed and 56 wounded, many during an enemy barrage of 148

Viet War, Law and Order Highlights Talk by Nixon

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Highlights of the acceptance speech of Republican presidential nominee Richard M. Nixon:

The choice we make in 1968 will determine not only the future of America but the future of peace and freedom of the world for the last third of the Twentieth Century.

America is in trouble today not because her people have failed but because her leaders have failed.

What America needs are leaders to match the greatness of her people.

When the strongest nation in the world can be tied down for four years by a war in Vietnam with no end in sight;

When the richest nation in the world can't manage its own economy;

When the nation with the greatest tradition of the rule of law is plagued by unprecedented lawlessness;

When the president of the United States cannot travel abroad or to any major city at home without fear of a hostile demonstration—then it is time for new leadership in America. We shall begin with Vietnam.

We hope there is a chance that current negotiations may bring an honorable end to the war. We will say nothing during this campaign that might destroy that chance.

If the war is not ended when the people choose in November, the choice will be clear.

The first priority foreign policy objective of our next administration will be to bring an honorable end to the war in Vietnam. We shall not stop there, we need a policy to prevent more Vietnams.

To the leaders of the Communist world, we say: After an era of confrontation, the time has come for an era of negotiation.

RICHARD NIXON looks a bit weary as he catches up on some paper work before leaving Miami Beach after capturing the Republican presidential nomination.

We believe deeply in our ideas, but we believe they should travel on their own power and not the power of our arms.

We extend the hand of friendship to the Russian people, and to the Chinese people, and to all peoples in the world.

We shall work toward the goal of an open world — open skies, open cities, open hearts, open minds.

War, Crime Provide Basis For Campaign

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — The 29th Republican National Convention, brushing aside a disgruntled minority, has sent Richard M. Nixon off on a November election crusade aimed at putting new leadership in the White House.

A step behind him marched Gov. Spiro T. Agnew of Maryland, Nixon's hand-picked selection for his running mate. Agnew's nomination provided the GOP delegates with about their only opportunity before adjournment Thursday night to register individual protest against Nixon's tight control over the convention.

The fact that 205 of the convention's 1,333 delegates were willing to go on the record in opposition to Nixon's personal choice for his No. 2 man cast doubt on the nominee's claim in his acceptance speech that the GOP "stands united before the nation tonight."

With some of the party liberals participating in what had the earmarks of a spontaneous revolt, Agnew polled 1,128 votes and Gov. George Romney of Michigan 178. Another 12 were scattered among other quickie candidates with 15 abstentions.

There was never any question about the convention's acceptance of Nixon's surprising choice of Agnew, barely known nationally except for his law-and-order stand and his tough lecturing of Negro leaders.

But the sour reaction of party liberals — or moderates as some of them prefer to be called — was reflected in the scattered voting against Agnew.

Had not Gov.'s Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York, Nixon's major challenger for the top nomination, and James A. Rhodes of Ohio, a holdout against Nixon's nomination, ordered their delegates to stay in line for Agnew there might have

See Agnew As 'Natural Choice'

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Why did Richard M. Nixon choose the relatively obscure governor of a small state as his vice presidential candidate?

The answer is that he didn't necessarily choose the man he thought could help him the most when he picked Gov. Spiro T. Agnew of Maryland. He chose the man he hoped would hurt him the least in his divided party.

"No one could say anything bad about him," was how a key participant in the meetings that led to Agnew's selection put it. From this source and others the Associated Press has pieced together the outlines, at least, of the making of a vice presidential candidate.

It began even before Nixon's first ballot victory in the early hours of Thursday morning.

About 20 minutes earlier Nixon met with his closest staff advisers in his penthouse apartment on the beach to start discussing a running mate. The meeting went on with an ever-changing cast for nearly 12 hours, with only an hour out for sleep by Nixon.

When Nixon finally emerged to say Agnew was his choice a shockwave traveled through the crammed hotels, jolting especially the followers of Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, who immediately charged Nixon with trying to appease his southern supporters.

The charge was denied by Nixon aides, but there was no denying the satisfaction that Agnew's selection brought to most southerners.

"The South got a candidate it can accept," said South Carolina Sen. Strom Thurmond, one of Nixon's most influential southern supporters, "while the big cities did not get who they said they had to have."

He was referring to Mayor John V. Lindsay of New York,

Sen. Charles H. Percy of Illinois, and Sen. Mark O. Hatfield of Oregon, the favorites of the big city Republicans.

The basis of the charge of appeasement was Nixon's promise to southern delegates before the convention balloting that he would pick a vice president acceptable to all parts of the nation.

Nixon made the overture to the southern delegates when it began to appear that California's Gov. Ronald Reagan was picking up support in the South in his bid for the presidential nomination. The South stayed with Nixon and gave him more than 300 of the 667 convention votes he needed.

Nixon aides and Thurmond insisted the southerners did not exercise any veto over prospective candidates, but there was some plain talk to a Florida caucus by the state's GOP chairman, Bill Murfin, who took part in the discussions.

He told his delegation that southern spokesmen quickly vetoed Hatfield and told Nixon that Lindsay and Percy could be named "without considerable objection by me, Strom Thurmond and others."

Murfin said when the discussions ended the only men apparently acceptable to all participants were Agnew, Gov. John Volpe of Massachusetts and Rep. George Bush of Texas.

The liberals among Nixon's consultants also made their weight felt, according to participants. Here is one's account:

"Reagan was nixed by the liberals and Lindsay was nixed by the conservatives. (Sen. John) Tower (of Texas) had qualifications but some felt that his selection would mean that Nixon had embraced the right wing of the party."

Boy Scout Bitten By Hungry Bear

RATON, N.M. (AP) — Peter Snow's bedroll slid part way out of his tent, and a bear took a taste of it. Officials at the Philmont Scout Ranch, about 90 miles southwest of Raton, said the bear's bite cut a quarter-inch gash in young Snow's foot.

The 15-year-old scout will receive rabies shots as a precaution. Officials at the ranch said there have been problems about bears attempting to get food from scout camps, but this is the first time a bear has bitten someone.

Many Hurt In Train Derailment

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP) — A Baltimore & Ohio passenger train carrying about 100 persons derailed on the Butler-Warren County line today killing one person and injuring about 20.

All five of the train's cars derailed and two of three passenger cars turned over on their sides, but apparently did not burn. Wreckage was strewn over about a half mile area where the derailment occurred four miles north of nearby Middletown on the Franklin-Madison Road.

The other passenger car on the Cincinnati to Detroit train derailed but remained upright.

The dead person was only identified as Albert Wills, the driver of the car that struck the train at a crossing on Franklin-Madison Road triggered the derailment. His body was found in a nearby field.

Nearby Middletown hospital was notified to "expect at least 20 injured persons."

A conductor of the train said there were an estimated 100 passengers on the train and that B&O officials had been taking a count just before the accident occurred.

Police radio reports said "it looks real bad."

All available ambulances from here, nearby Middletown, and Franklin were dispatched to the scene at Franklin-Madison Road where the accident was triggered when the train hit a car.

Calls were sent out for help from other communities.

CLEVELAND (AP) — About 50 pickets demonstrated in front of two city bars Thursday protesting what they described as "exorbitant prices."

The bars closed voluntarily during the demonstration.

Lid On in Miami after Outbreak of Racial Violence

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Miami's riot-torn black areas, where three Negroes were shot to death and 18 persons wounded during looting and burning, was reported by the sheriff's office today to be "under firm control."

But a National Guard force equipped with everything from shotguns to flamethrowers stuck to its guns in the "occupied territory," ready to move back into action at the first sign of new flareups.

"We are standing by," said a Guard spokesman, "waiting to find out what they are going to do. Then we'll make our own move."

In the Liberty City district, where the first racial violence in recent Miami history broke out 10 miles from the site of the Republican National Convention, police Thursday faced snipers' bullets and barrages of rocks and bottles.

Then they struck back. Two Negroes were fatally wounded during an exchange of gunfire at an apartment house.

Later, when a 550-block area embracing Liberty City was barricaded and swept by National Guard troops, another Negro was shot off a porch balcony in the Central Negro District to the south.

As the curfew was imposed for the first time Thursday night, National Guard troops swept the streets, huge searchlights swinging slowly from side to side.

"We're going to clean these streets," one officer barked to his men. "We're taking no bull this time."

Later, a National Guard

spokesman said that "once the sweep started, there was no trouble at all."

But, as the impressive show of force brought quiet to Liberty City, new trouble erupted in the Central Negro District.

Sgt. James H. Tomblay, a wounded Miami policeman, said a volley of shots was fired from a rooftop at Northwest 22nd Street and Northwest 3rd Avenue.

E. Jest Cleveland, a Miami Beach car washer, was shot in the head and toppled from the porch of his apartment. A Negro woman, Willie Mae Grant, was shot in the left arm as she stood on the same porch.

Bands of young Negroes roamed the central district, smashing store and car windows, and shortly after midnight City Manager Melvin Reese also ordered a curfew for that area. By dawn, the trouble had petered out.

Two other deaths occurred during Wednesday's rioting. One woman died of a heart attack while sitting on her front porch. An unidentified Negro man found dead in Liberty City was reported by the medical examiner's office to have succumbed to natural causes.

After the shooting broke out, police cruisers roared through

Liberty City, breaking up gangs with teargas bombs and arresting 148 persons. The charges including looting, aggravated assault, resisting arrest and carrying concealed weapons.

Another man carrying a .22-caliber rifle peered out of a doorway. "I got me a cause!" he cried. "That's why I'm out here."

A small boy ran up to the man shouting, "They got that whitey! They dragged him out of his car and beat him to pieces."

When the shooting at the apartment house ended and police moved to another trouble area, the pavement glittered with spent rifle shells.

Severe Storm Dumps 4 Inches Of Rain Here

"LIKE A TWISTER . . ." — Strong winds snapped telephone poles on Atwater Ave. last night "like a twister would have," said a General Telephone Co. employee today. Shown here is company lineman Gary Hughes repairing broken lines. At noon today all the poles were replaced and telephone service to the north end of the city was to be resumed shortly.

Circleville and Pickaway County area was struck by another severe thunderstorm Thursday evening, the second in 48 hours.

Thunder, lightning and heavy rainfall accompanied by high winds and hail lashed the area for a couple of hours beginning about 7 p.m.

Official measure of rainfall here by the U.S. Weather Bureau was 4.02 inches. Other rain gauges in the county area ranged from 1.5 inches to nearly three inches.

The sudden downpour caused storm sewers to backup in several sections of the city while small streams flooded their banks and in some cases roads were momentarily deluged by surface water.

UTILITY lines and poles were downed in areas of the city and county. Power companies attributed the downed lines to high speed winds and in some cases lightning. Line crews worked during the night and in most instances service had been restored by early morning.

However workers were still busy in the Atwater Ave. area today repairing storm damaged poles and lines. One worker said "It looked like a twister had swept along Atwater Ave."

Jackson Twp. residents felt the effects of the hail storm, more so than other areas. In the city, hail stones fell only for a brief time.

Pickaway County Sheriff's Dept. reported the bridge spanning Scippo Creek on the Salsereek - Pickaway Road "washed out" about 11:30 p.m. A deputy noted the bridge on one side dropped about three feet below road level. The county road has been closed to traffic.

Last night's 4.02 inches of rainfall brings the accumulation for August to 5.82 inches — normal for the month to date is 1.02 inches.

Scattered showers and thundershowers can be expected through Saturday, according to the forecast issued for the Pickaway County area today.

As the curfew was imposed for the first time Thursday night, National Guard troop carriers swept the streets, huge searchlights swinging slowly from side to side.

"We're going to clean these streets," one officer barked to his men. "We're taking no bull shit time."

Later, a National Guard

spokesman said that "once the sweep started, there was no trouble at all."

But, as the impressive show of force brought quiet to Liberty City, new trouble erupted in the Central Negro District.

Sgt. James H. Tomblay, a wounded Miami policeman, said a volley of shots was fired from a rooftop at Northwest 22nd Street and Northwest 3rd Avenue.

E. Jest Cleveland, a Miami Beach car washer, was shot in the head and toppled from the porch of his apartment. A Negro woman, Willie Mae Grant, was shot in the left arm as she stood on the same porch.

Bands of young Negroes roamed the central district, smashing store and car windows, and shortly after midnight City Manager Melvin Reese also ordered a curfew for that area. By dawn, the trouble had petered out.

Two other deaths occurred during Wednesday's rioting. One woman died of a heart attack while sitting on her front porch. An unidentified Negro man found dead in Liberty City was reported by the medical examiner's office to have succumbed to natural causes.

After the shooting broke out, police cruisers roared through

Liberty City, breaking up gangs with teargas bombs and arresting 148 persons. The charges including looting, aggravated assault, resisting arrest and carrying concealed weapons.

Another man carrying a .22-caliber rifle peered out of a doorway. "I got me a cause!" he cried. "That's why I'm out here."

A small boy ran up to the man shouting, "They got that whitty! They dragged him out of his car and beat him to pieces."

When the shooting at the apartment house ended and police moved to another trouble area, the pavement glittered with spent rifle shells.

You've all been to barn dances and parties, but did you ever see one like on TV this week? Everyone gathered in this big barn down in Florida. After they got there, they built this thing which they called a party platform. That's how come we know they were having a party. And I tell you it was a big platform. There weren't no need for chairs though, because these people kept doing demonstrations on the floor. What they was doing was some kind of cake walk dance. They had these big signs and they danced around and around that barn until they got tuckered and someone took their turn.

Something seemed stranger than a fish fry in January to me. That barn was full of people and almost all of them had the same name, which was Dolly Gates. I don't think they was related either cause they was just as nice as beans to each other. Some of them stood up and reckoned how much he liked someone else. Then faster than a frog can swallow a skinker, another jumped and honeyed and molassesed all over him again. Nobody was mean, but this one feller carried a big hammer if anyone got sassy.

They was having more than fun than a bear in a bee hive except this one man named Rock Feller who was plumb worried sick about getting drafted. Now maybe it is he just has had a hard life but he sure looked too old for the draft.

Some of the people wore things on their ears and they went around holding a little ball. Then they would sneak up and try to get people to talk into these balls. They was peculiar and some of them fellers knowed it because they was a mite skittish about talking to them balls. The ones with the big ears kept asking these people who their favorite son was. Now, this isn't a right thing to ask people. Even if those people had a favorite son, they wasn't going to blab about it. How would their other boys feel? But these people had it all worked up what to say. When them fellers asked they always said "Nick's son."

I never did see Nick, but his son was there. I think it was that he got the party up because right there at the end he got up and thanked everyone for coming and asked them up to his new house when he moves. Everybody was pleased Ray Gun made it to the party. After all, coming on a mule train from Death Valley is pretty slow. Nobody had a quarter but they gave him a dime to go back on the Blue Water Line. All in all, it was more fun than shelling peas and if these TV people are smart, they'll have another party on before long.

The Pony League players and coaches gathered at Jean and Ray Valones' Saturday evening for a picnic. After the meal and presentation of trophies, the boys engaged in a touch football contest. Unfortunately, John Valone ran into a covering over a well and was severely injured. He was taken to Berger Hospital and from there to Children's Hospital. Surgery was performed on Tuesday afternoon. It appears that he may be there for some time. His room number is 501-A. John had just been presented a trophy for leading his team in batting this year. Even though we all rooted for him on the diamond, we are now rooting for him even more.

The Mosquito and Little League joined at the American Legion Hall for their picnic Sunday evening. The Mosquito League, with virtually all green players, won the league this year. The Little League, also with young players, tied for second in their league. The Little League team included eight players who age-wise could have played Mosquito League ball. Due to a shortage of boys to form a Little League Team, they chose to move up. They were drafted only in size by their competition... not in spirit and ability.

The would-be football players are getting conditioned for practice which starts later this month. I thought this conditioning might be something to write about, but not by first hand experience, thank you. The only conditioning that air conditioning.

Nixon Cancels Planned Trip To Moscow

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Richard M. Nixon announced today he had decided—after almost a week of speculation—will not visit the Soviet Union before the election in November.

The Republican presidential candidate told newsmen that he "reluctantly concluded the trip cannot now be taken and will not be taken before the election."

Nixon also said President Johnson called him Thursday night, congratulated him and said: "You have my congratulations and my sympathy."

Nixon said he would go to Johnson's Texas ranch Saturday to meet with the President and to be briefed by Cyrus Vance Jr., a top administration troubleshooter, on the pace of Vietnam peace talks in Paris.

Nixon said his running mate, Gov. Spiro T. Agnew of Maryland, would go along.

Before winning the nomination Nixon had said he was considering a trip to the Soviet Union, possibly before the Democratic National Convention in Chicago later this month.

Now, he said, "I have decided we cannot make that trip. We have too many demands that are urgent in the United States to allow foreign travel."

Nixon also said he would have had to visit other European capitals or chance undercutting U.S. alliances, and there simply wasn't time enough to do this.

Police Purchase Rapid-Fire Guns

LORAIN, Ohio (AP) — Some Cleveland policemen reportedly have spent their own money to buy rapid-fire weapons since the July 23 sniper attack in which three officers were killed and eight wounded.

A salesman at a Lorain sporting goods store who asked that his name and the store name not be used said he sold "three or four" guns to policemen who came into the store about two weeks ago.

Marine Is Charged With Viet Murders

DA NANG, Vietnam (AP) — A 20-year-old U.S. Marine has been charged with the battlefield murder of five Vietnamese civilians—one of whom was hanged and two executed by a firing squad.

In addition to five murder counts against Lance Cpl. Deniz R. Allen, Lebanon, Ill., individual murder charges have been brought against six other Marines, authorities said.

A spokesman said that a pre-trial investigation disclosed that the slayings took place early last May near a small village just south of Hue.

The charges against the Marines are now under review by Maj. Gen. Carl A. Youngdale, commander of the state Marine Division, who has the power to reduce the charges or to order a general court martial.

If trials are ordered they will probably begin in the early fall, a Marine legal spokesman said. Individual murder charges have been placed against: Pvt. Martin R. Alvarez Jr., Detroit, Mich.; Pfc. Robert J. Vickers, Dothan, Ala.; Pfc. Manuel Cornejo, Brooklyn, N.Y.; Lance Cpl. Anthony Licciardi Jr., Lowell, Mass.; Lance Cpl. John D.

Belknap, Forsyth, Ga., and Lance Cpl. James A. Maushart, Vacaville, Calif.

A pretrial investigation report said:

Allen and five other Marines were sent out May 5 from a patrol base to set up an ambush and two Vietnamese men with suspect identification papers were seized. The two prisoners were questioned and taken behind a small shack. Their bodies were found later, each with two bullet wounds from an M6 rifle.

That night, the Viet Cong attacked the main patrol base. A sergeant in charge was unexpectedly absent and Allen took charge, called artillery in on his own position and drove off the attack.

Fighting continued throughout the night and at dawn a five-man squad was sent to reinforce Allen's position. On the way the squad picked up three males of military age with suspect identification papers.

The report said two were marched onto a small bridge, a firing squad shot them, and their bodies fell into a canal. The third man was taken to a nearby house.

The pretrial investigation said Allen fastened a nylon cord to the man's neck and to a roof beam and another Marine kicked away the chair on which the man was standing.

Testimony in the pretrial investigation said Allen took a knife and cut the man's throat when he did not die immediately.

The body was thrown into the canal and another Marine threw several hand grenades into the water to make the three bodies sink.

The slaying came to light when one of the men in the relief squad reported them to his platoon commander.

Top Docket at Juvenile Court

The case of a 13-year old boy charged with driving without a license, leaving the scene of an accident and reckless operation of a car topped the docket of Juvenile Court this week.

Gregory Shires, 144 Pontious Lane, pleaded guilty to the three charges before Juvenile Court Judge Guy Cline. He was fined $25 plus costs for leaving the scene of an accident and the same sum for reckless operation. For driving without a license he was fined $50 plus costs. The court suspended $75 of the fines but ordered the youth not to apply for a license until his 18th birthday.

Janet Fletcher, 18, Williamsport, was fined $50 plus costs and ordered to complete 30 hours of community work for driving without a license. The fine was suspended.

David Fletcher, 14, Williamsport, was fined $50, placed on probation for three years and ordered to complete 100 hours of community service for discharging firecrackers. The fine was suspended.

Larry Valentine, 18, Route 1, Ashville, was charged with failure to display a slow-moving vehicle sign on his farm tractor. He was fined $10 plus costs with the fine suspended.

Lonnie Anderson, 17, Orient, entered no plea to the charge of speeding 65 miles in a 45 mile zone. He was fined $10 plus costs and had his license restricted for 45 days. The fine was suspended.

Steve Brink, 15, Route 4, was found guilty of violating curfew. He was ordered to complete 100 hours of community work.

2 Men Sentenced By County Court

Decisions on an embezzlement case and a case of parole violation were handed down by Common Pleas Court Judge William Ammer today.

William Bussard, Route 3, pleaded guilty to the charge of embezzlement, thus reversing his previous plea of not guilty which he made before the April term of the Grand Jury.

Bussard was charged with embezzling $75 from the B-J Auto Sales.

The court sentenced Bussard to six months in county jail and placed him on probation for three years.

Clark Fout, 225 Moats Drive was found guilty of violating his parole through improper associations. Fout, who had been placed on three years probation in 1967 for unarmed robbery, had his probation extended one year.

been an even larger protest. Nixon got a five-minute ovation before he could start his acceptance speech. He was interrupted frequently with applause as he asserted in the course of his speech that "this time we're going to win."

The nominee, preparing to depart for Mission Bay, Calif., for a rest and strategy sessions, also nailed down his control of party machinery.

He gave the signal for the reelection of Ray C. Bliss as national chairman. Bliss declined comment, but there seemed little doubt he would agree to remain.

Primarily a political technician, Bliss stayed clear of the fight for the presidential nomination as almost no chairman before him had done.

As with most presidential candidates, Nixon is expected to run the campaign with his personal organization. The National Committee organization will supply auxiliary services and raise money.

In his acceptance speech, Nixon reported that he had talked to Mrs. Dwight D. Eisenhower and she told him the former president's heart was with him at the convention.

"Let's win this one for Ike!" Nixon shouted and the crowd which jammed the 18,000-seat Convention Hall roared its approval.

Eisenhower had endorsed Nixon.

on's bid for the nomination before the convention.

In what promises to be the themes of his campaign, Nixon hit hard at the issues of law-and-order, and the Vietnam war.

He said he could not promise "the millennium in the morning. But I do promise action."

Angew told the convention that because of his unexpected selection he had had no time to prepare a profound message. He pledged a vigorous campaign to put the ticket over in November.

"I look forward to sharing in an administration in which a president will entrust to his vice president great responsibility for the problems of the states and cities," Agnew said.

Rockefeller came to the podium early in the Thursday night proceeding to say that "the convention has spoken and I support the decision of the convention."

Romney, who permitted his name to be entered against Agnew's in the vice presidential nomination balloting, said he hadn't initiated the move. But he went along and Michigan gave him 43 votes to Agnew's 5.

After he had moved to make Agnew's choice unanimous, Romney promised to "do the best we can to achieve national, state and local Republican victories."

Cincy Airport Survey Released

CINCINNATI (AP)—A survey two years in the making shows air service deficiencies are costing persons in the Cincinnati area $10 million a year in lost travel time. The figure could rise to an annual $33 million by 1975—if uncorrected.

Those are the highlights of the Cincinnati Master Air Service Plan, a $30,000 project just completed by airport consultants Landrum & Brown.

The deficiencies described involve lack of service to some areas from the Greater Cincinnati Airport, or a need for better service to areas already served. The airport is across the Ohio River, in Boone County, Ky.

Cost of the survey and master report was underwritten in equal shares by the city of Cincinnati, the Greater Cincinnati Chamber of Commerce and the Greater Cincinnati Airport.

The panel found the defendants guilty of various maneuvers, including perjury conspiracy, to cover up the stock deal during the SEC probe. In addition to five murder counts against Lance Cpl. Deniz R. Allen, Lebanon, Ill., individual murder charges have been brought against six other Marines, authorities said.

A spokesman said that a pre-trial investigation disclosed that the slayings took place early last May near a small village just south of Hue.

The charges against the Marines are now under review by Maj. Gen. Carl A. Youngdale, commander of the state Marine Division, who has the power to reduce the charges or to order a general court martial.

If trials are ordered they will probably begin in the early fall, a Marine legal spokesman said.

Individual murder charges have been placed against: Pvt. Martin R. Alvarez Jr., Detroit, Mich.; Pfc. Robert J. Vickers, Dothan, Ala.; Pfc. Manuel Cornejo, Brooklyn, N.Y.; Lance Cpl. Anthony Licciardo Jr., Lowell, Mass.; Lance Cpl. John D.

Belknap, Forsyth, Ga., and Lance Cpl., James A. Maushart, Vacaville, Calif.

A pretrial investigation report said:

Allen and five other Marines were sent out May 5 from a patrol base to set up an ambush and two Vietnamese men with suspect identification papers were seized. The two prisoners were questioned and taken behind a small shack. Their bodies were found later, each with two bullet wounds from an M6 rifle.

That night, the Viet Cong attacked the main patrol base. A sergeant in charge was unexplainedly absent and Allen took charge, called artillery in on his own position and drove off the attack.

Fighting continued throughout the night and at dawn a five-man squad was sent to reinforce Allen's position. On the way the squad picked up three males of military age with suspect identification papers.

The report said two were marched onto a small bridge, a firing squad shot them, and their bodies fell into a canal. The third man was taken to a nearby house.

The pretrial investigation said Allen fastened a nylon cord to the man's neck and to a roof beam and another Marine kicked away the chair on which the man was standing.

Testimony in the pretrial investigation said Allen took a knife and cut the man's throat when he did not die immediately.

The body was thrown into the canal and another Marine threw several hand grenades into the water to make the three bodies sink.

The slaying came to light when one of the men in the relief squad reported them to his platoon commander.

tained in the original indictment. He directed the jury Wednesday to deliberate only the alleged cover-up, cautioning "this is not a stock fraud trial."

The panel found the defendants guilty of various maneuvers, including perjury conspiracy, to cover up the stock deal during the SEC probe. Wolfson and Gerbert were found guilty of actual perjury and the filing of false company reports in 1962 and 1963. Staub was also convicted of making false statements in Merritt-Chapman annual reports.

The defendants' lawyers moved immediately to appeal the verdicts.

A fifth defendant, Alexander Rittmaster, 50, a Merritt director, pleaded guilty to one count of the indictment early in the trial and became a government witness. He is awaiting sentence.

2 Men Sentenced By County Court

Decisions on an embezzlement case and a case of parole violation were handed down by Common Pleas Court Judge William Ammer today.

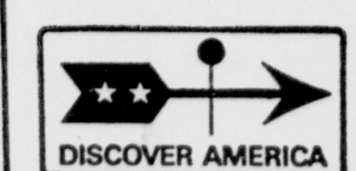

William Bussard, Route 3, pleaded guilty to the charge of embezzlement, thus reversing his previous plea of not guilty which he made before the April term of the Grand Jury.

Bussard was charged with embezzling $75 from the B-J Auto Sales.

The court sentenced Bussard to six months in county jail and placed him on probation for three years.

Clark Fout, 225 Moats Drive was found guilty of violating his parole through improper associations. Fout, who had been placed on three years probation in 1967 for unarmed robbery, had his probation extended one year.

been an even larger protest.

Nixon got a five-minute ovation before he could start his acceptance speech. He was interrupted frequently with applause as he asserted in the course of his speech that "this time we're going to win."

The nominee, preparing to depart for Mission Bay, Calif., for a rest and strategy sessions, also nailed down his control of party machinery.

He gave the signal for the reelection of Ray C. Bliss as national chairman. Bliss declined comment, but there seemed little doubt he would agree to remain.

Primarily a political technician, Bliss stayed clear of the fight for the presidential nomination as almost no chairman before him had done.

As with most presidential candidates, Nixon is expected to run the campaign with his personal organization. The National Committee organization will supply auxiliary services and raise money.

In his acceptance speech, Nixon reported that he had talked to Mrs. Dwight D. Eisenhower and she told him the former president's heart was with him at the convention.

"Let's win this one for Ike!" Nixon shouted and the crowd which jammed the 18,000-seat Convention Hall roared its approval.

Eisenhower had endorsed Nixon.

Cincy Airport Survey Released

CINCINNATI (AP)—A survey two years in the making shows air service deficiencies are costing persons in the Cincinnati area $10 million a year in lost travel time. The figure could rise to an annual $33 million by 1975—if uncorrected.

Those are the highlights of the Cincinnati Master Air Service Plan, a $30,000 project just completed by airport consultants Landrum & Brown.

The deficiencies described involve lack of service to some areas from the Greater Cincinnati Airport, or a need for better service to areas already served. The airport is across the Ohio River, in Boone County, Ky.

Cost of the survey and master report was underwritten in equal shares by the city of Cincinnati, the Greater Cincinnati Chamber of Commerce and the Greater Cincinnati Airport.

on's bid for the nomination before the convention.

In what promises to be the themes of his campaign, Nixon hit hard at the issues of law-and-order, and the Vietnam war.

He said he could not promise "the millennium in the morning. But I do promise action."

Angew told the convention that because of his unexpected selection he had had no time to prepare a profound message. He pledged a vigorous campaign to put the ticket over in November.

"I look forward to sharing in an administration in which a president will entrust to his vice president great responsibility for the problems of the states and cities," Agnew said.

Rockefeller came to the podium early in the Thursday night proceeding to say that "the convention has spoken and I support the decision of the convention."

Romney, who permitted his name to be entered against Agnew's in the vice presidential nomination balloting, said he hadn't initiated the move. But he went along and Michigan gave him 43 votes to Agnew's 5.

After he had moved to make Agnew's choice unanimous, Romney promised to do the best we can to achieve national, state and local Republican victories. . .

The Mayor's Report

Need for More Revenue

By MAYOR RICHARD L. GERHARDT

On behalf of City Council, Councilman Dave Goldschmidt last Tuesday cited the need for more revenue for the operation of the City. I agree with his comments that a review of the financial position of the City should be publicly discussed.

In the "State of the City Address," I pointed out that "while we have laid out an ambitious program, we are under no illusion that we can accomplish these things in the short haul or in the long haul, without paying for them." This was followed with several recommendations, among them the systematic matching of City funds with state and Federal funds, the use of low interest loan programs, and the use of the license fees to fund a street improvement bond. In regards to an income tax the Address stated that if other sources proved inadequate "a modest city income tax, with 75 per cent of revenue derived therefrom to be earmarked for capital improvement only" should be considered. I further stated, "However no such tax will be recommended without a complete and open discussion. Many cities throughout the nation have income taxes, but we intend to follow suit only if it appears to be absolutely necessary and only if we can get the proper support."

In reviewing the 35 recommendations I have made to Council, I would like to clarify one thing. Cost estimates have been made and a quick look at them would reveal this. Whenever possible, estimates of cost have been incorporated in the recommendations. Estimates were not included in two instances where salaries were to be established as the Council has exclusive control of this matter. In all other cases estimates were included if the matter needed appropriations or cost were made known to the Committee Chairman.

It is my hope that working with Council, we can arrange to utilize our present funds to their fullest extent. More recommendations will be forthcoming, some of which will involve the expenditure of money, but none of which is not needed. We must continue to progress, to innovate, and to improve our city.

In fact in at least 21 recommendations, no cost estimates were needed as no additional expenditures were called for. Nine regulatory measures, not involving any expenditures of money were among them.

They include: 1. A Modern Housing Code; 2. A Modern Fire Prevention Code; 3. Fire Limit Regulations; 4. Control of Noxious Weeds; 5. Refuse and Trash Collection Regulations; 6. Regulations regarding Non-Domestic Animals within the city; 7. Enlargement of the Authority for the Safety Director; 8. Enlargement of the Authority for the Service Director; 9. Safety Regulations for Public Used Transportation Vehicle.

Of the 14 left, Council has already passed on five matters involving expenditures which were the subject of recommendations and nine are now remaining in which no action has been taken. A review of the recommendations shows that these remaining nine could all be implemented for less than $8,000 for the remainder of this year.

It is my hope that working with Council, we can arrange to utilize our present funds to their fullest extent. More recommendations will be forthcoming, some of which will involve the expenditure of money, but none of which is not needed. We must continue to progress, to innovate, and to improve our city.

Troops, Police On the Move In Uruguay

Speculate Action Related to Kidnap Of Top Official

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay (AP)—In an unexpected move the government ordered 150 armed troops and police into the troubled University of Uruguay today.

There was speculation that the move was related to the kidnapping Wednesday of Ulises Pereira Reverbel, a close adviser to President Jorge Pacheco Areco and the director of the government electric and telephone company.

Pereira was kidnapped by four members of a pro-Peking Communist terror group called the Tupamaro National Liberation Front. He was seized because of his part in a government crackdown on labor unrest and rising inflation, and the kidnapers demanded an end to these measures in exchange for his freedom.

The government said it would not be blackmailed. Using telephone calls and leaflets, the kidnapers created confusion by alternately claiming that Pereira had been killed and that the group had captured a leading army officer, Col. Francisco Lopez Soler. The reports of Lopez' kidnapping proved to be false.

The kidnapping touched off the largest manhunt in the nation's history. Montevideo was swarming with police and soldiers.

The troops and police occupied the university's schools of medicine, architecture and fine arts. Student retaliation was expected since Latin American universities are traditionally off limits to the military and the police.

Let's Tour Ohio

Indian War Mementos Abound Near Greenville

Editor's Note: This is one of a series of short trips to top Ohio travel attractions prepared for the Circleville Herald by the Columbus Auto Club Travel Department.

Just before Ohio became the 17th state, Indian wars rumbled along what are now its western borders, and in the area around Greenville are many memorials and other mementos of the events.

Fort Recovery was the site of a "high" and a "low" in the battles with the Indians. In 1791, the Indians massacred the army of General St. Clair, but this was later avenged by a detachment of the army of General "Mad" Anthony Wayne.

The site has a tall obelisk monument marking the graves of St. Clair's men, and two large blockhouses and a stockade built by Wayne's troops and from which the battle was won.

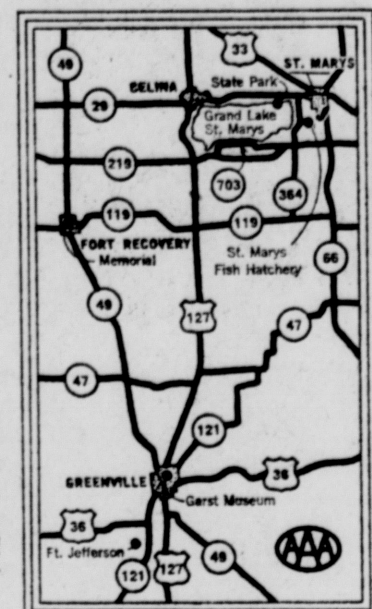

For Jefferson, south of Greenville, on Ohio 121, was St. Clair's original outpost to which the few survivors of the defeat retreated. Of the two battles, the Ohio Historical Society, which administers both memorials, says:

"American military annals can scarcely duplicate the importance of this one small plot of ground (Recovery) ... where one army was butchered, a second force withstood what was perhaps the largest Indian army ever to gather against American troops ..."

At nearby Greenville, Wayne built Fort Greenville, where a year after his victory he signed a treaty by which the Indians ceded land to the U.S. The signing is commemorated by the Altar of Peace Monument, which has a perpetual flame.

Also at Greenville is the Garst Museum, which has a collection of relics from the Indian wars, as well as displays to Annie Oakley and newscaster Lowell Thomas. Hours are Tuesday, Friday and Sunday, 1 to 5 p.m.

North of Fort Recovery is the largest lake and park in Ohio, Grand Lake St. Marys. It offers a full range of water activities and park services, including camping. Nearly $400,000 was spent this year to improve the marina, shelter houses and parking area along the east bank, off Ohio 364. Just south of 364 is the St. Marys Fish Hatchery, the state's largest fish farm, which has many varieties of northwest Ohio fish in its 81 ponds.

AAA suggests this route to the tour area. From Circleville, go northwest on Ohio Route 56 to Jct. with US 40 and I-70; west on US 40 and I-70 to Jct. with US 127; north on US 127 into the tour area.

Linda Dean, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Max Dean, 109 Highland Ave., is one of 61 second semester students at McPherson College, McPherson, Kan., listed on the Dean's Honor Roll.

Miss Dean earned a 3.56 grade average based on the 4.0 system. To be included on the honor roll at McPherson, students must have a 3.5 or better grade average.

McPherson, affiliated with the Church of the Brethren, is a four-year liberal arts college with an enrollment of more than 750 students. Eight per cent of the student body achieved high enough grades to be named to the Dean's Honor Roll.

The annual Cook reunion was held at the Community Park Shelter House on Sunday. There were over 80 relatives and guests in attendance.

The afternoon was spent in pitching horseshoe, playing ball and reminiscing.

The business meeting was conducted by the president, Burt Cook. It was decided to hold the reunion at the park next year on the first Sunday in August.

Officers elected for the coming year were president, Richard Cook; vice president, Rudy Cook; secretary-treasurer, Dorothy Cook.

The oldest descendant of the Cook family present was Alfred Cook of Ashville. The youngest present was Jimmy Franks, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Franks (Carol Cook). A letter was read from the Maurice Cook family of Denver, Colo., who were unable to attend this year.

All departed in the late afternoon having spent a very enjoyable day.

Mrs. Robert (Betty) Hoover of Madison St. entered Mercy Hospital Monday and underwent surgery on Tuesday.

A reception will be held at the United Methodist Church (E.U.B.) on Aug. 16 at 6:30 p.m. to honor the new minister, the Rev. and Mrs. Glenn Thompson and daughter Davina.

The dinner will be a carry-in and a short program will follow. Tea and coffee will be furnished by the Everfaithful Class of the church.

Once again the members of the Ashville Community Club prepared quite a delicious meal and served it to those who in any way helped with the annual Fourth of July celebration.

Heading the menu were both barbecued chicken and ribs. Also served were ham, wieners, franks, potato salad, tomatoes, potato chips, relishes, pickles, cheese and assorted fruits.

Following the meal all in attendance played games with prizes being awarded the winners.

The members of the club should be quite proud of the dinner they served to the approximately two hundred persons. It was enjoyed by all.

Need for More Revenue

By MAYOR RICHARD L. GERHARDT

On behalf of City Council, Councilman Dave Goldschmidt last Tuesday cited the need for more revenue for the operation of the City. I agree with his comments that a review of the financial position of the City should be publicly discussed.

In the "State of the City Address," I pointed out that "while we have laid out an ambitious program, we are under no illusion that we can accomplish these things in the short haul or in the long haul, without paying for them." This was followed with several recommendations, among them the systematic matching of City funds with state and federal funds, the use of low interest loan programs, and the use of the license fees to fund a street improvement bond. In regard to an income tax the Address stated that if other sources proved inadequate "a modest city income tax, with 75 per cent of revenue derived therefrom to be earmarked for capital improvement only," should be considered. I further stated, "However no such tax will be recommended without a complete and open discussion. Many cities throughout the nation have income taxes, but we intend to follow suit only if it appears to be absolutely necessary and only if we can get the proper support."

In reviewing the 35 recommendations I have made to Council, I would like to clarify one thing. Cost estimates have been made and a quick look at them would reveal this. Whenever possible, estimates of cost have been incorporated in the recommendations. Estimates were not included in two instances where salaries were to be established as the Council has exclusive control of this matter. In all other cases estimates were included if the matter needed appropriations or cost were made known to the Committee Chairman.

It is my hope that working with Council, we can arrange to utilize our present funds to their fullest extent. More recommendations will be forthcoming, some of which will involve the expenditure of money, but none of which is not needed. We must continue to progress, to innovate, and to improve our city.

In fact in at least 21 recommendations, no cost estimates were needed as no additional expenditures were called for. Nine regulatory measures, not involving any expenditures of money were among them.

They include: 1. A Modern Housing Code; 2. A Modern Fire Prevention Code; 3. Fire Limit Regulations; 4. Control of Noxious Weeds; 5. Refuse and Trash Collection Regulations; 6. Regulations regarding Non-Domestic Animals within the city; 7. Enlargement of the Authority for the Safety Director; 8. Enlargement of the Authority for the Service Director; 9. Safety Regulations for Public Used Transportation Vehicle.

Of the 14 left, Council has already passed on five matters involving expenditures which were the subject of recommendations and nine are now remaining in which no action has been taken. A review of the recommendations shows that these remaining nine could all be implemented for less than $8,000 for the remainder of this year.

It is my hope that working with Council, we can arrange to utilize our present funds to their fullest extent. More recommendations will be forthcoming, some of which will involve the expenditure of money, but none of which is not needed. We must continue to progress, to innovate, and to improve our city.

Troops, Police On the Move In Uruguay

Speculate Action Related to Kidnap Of Top Official

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay (AP)—In an unexpected move the government ordered 150 armed troops and police into the troubled University of Uruguay today.

There was speculation that the move was related to the kidnapping Wednesday of Ulises Pereira Reverbel, a close adviser to President Jorge Pacheco Areco and the director of the government electric and telephone company.

Pereira was kidnapped by four members of a pro-Peking Communist terror group called the Tupamaro National Liberation Front. He was seized because of his part in a government crackdown on labor unrest and rising inflation, and the kidnapers demanded an end to these measures in exchange for his freedom.

The government said it would not be blackmailed. Using telephone calls and leaflets, the kidnapers created confusion by alternately claiming that Pereira had been killed and that the group had captured a leading army officer, Col. Francisco Lopez Soler. The reports of Lopez' kidnapping proved to be false.

The kidnapping touched off the largest manhunt in the nation's history. Montevideo was swarming with police and soldiers.

The troops and police occupied the university's schools of medicine, architecture and fine arts. Student retaliation was expected since Latin American universities are traditionally off limits to the military and the police.

Ashville

The annual Cook reunion was held at the Community Park Shelter House on Sunday. There were over 80 relatives and guests in attendance.

The afternoon was spent in pitching horseshoe, playing ball and reminiscing.

The business meeting was conducted by the president, Burt Cook. It was decided to hold the reunion at the park next year on the first Sunday in August.

Officers elected for the coming year were president, Richard Cook; vice president, Rudy Cook; secretary-treasurer, Dorothy Cook.

The oldest descendant of the Cook family present was Alfred Cook of Ashville. The youngest present was Jimmy Franks, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Franks (Carol Cook). A letter was read from the Maurice Cook family of Denver, Colo., who were unable to attend this year.

All departed in the late afternoon having spent a very enjoyable day.

Mrs. Robert (Betty) Hoover of Madison St. entered Mercy Hospital Monday and underwent surgery on Tuesday.

A reception will be held at the United Methodist Church (E.U.B.) on Aug. 16 at 6:30 p.m. to honor the new minister, the Rev. and Mrs. Glenn Thompson and daughter Davina.

The dinner will be a carry-in and a short program will follow. Tea and coffee will be furnished by the Everfaithful Class of the church.

Once again the members of the Ashville Community Club prepared quite a delicious meal and served it to those who in any way helped with the annual Fourth of July celebration.

Heading the menu were both barbecued chicken and ribs. Also served were ham, wieners, franks, potato salad, tomatoes, potato chips, relishes, pickles, cheese and assorted fruits.

Following the meal all in attendance played games with prizes being awarded the winners.

The members of the club should be quite proud of the dinner they served to the approximately two hundred persons. It was enjoyed by all.

Let's Tour Ohio

Indian War Mementos Abound Near Greenville

Editor's Note: This is one of a series of short trips to top Ohio travel attractions prepared for the Circleville Herald by the Columbus Auto Club Travel Department.

Just before Ohio became the 17th state, Indian wars rumbled along what are now its western borders, and in the area around Greenville are many mementos and other mementos of the events.

Fort Recovery was the site of a "high" and a "low" in the battles with the Indians. In 1791, the Indians massacred the army of General St. Clair, but this was later avenged by a detachment of the army of General "Mad" Anthony Wayne.

The site has a tall obelisk monument marking the graves of St. Clair's men, and two large blockhouses and a stockade built by Wayne's troops and from which the battle was won.

Example Needed

The Senate Finance Committee has killed another of Lyndon Johnson's less popular ideas — a tax on expenditures by travelers abroad. Administration proposals for a 5 percent nuisance tax on air and ship tickets for overseas travel, and a sharply reduced customs exemption for travelers, are still alive but not given much chance of passage by Congress.

It isn't the tourists who contribute most to the nation's unfavorable balance of payments. It's the government. When it starts to cut back on its expenditures, abroad, perhaps the average American will also feel a little more like doing so.

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — It isn't what a man gets or does that makes him happy—it's what he dreams of getting or doing.

When a man runs out of goals in this world he usually runs out of breath shortly thereafter. Rust clogs him, ennuï mows him down.

No matter how fruitless, inappropriate or downright foolish a dream may be, so long as it attracts that person's interest it keeps him alive. Most daydreams, in fact, are mock-heros. In his heart of hearts the most rut-bound man is always galloping off with the Three Musketeers on missions of danger and adventure.

For example, I find in making a rollecall of my own frustrated daydreams, I have yet to—

Stun a bully with a karate chop.

Play "kneesy under the table" with Kim Novak.

Bulldoze a steer or ride a bucking horse in a rodeo.

Buy a kitchen sink garbage grinder.

Belly up to the bar in the Ritz Hotel in Paris and ask the bartender whom he really liked better—

ter—F. Scott Fitzgerald or Ernest Hemingway.

Eat a pickled eel or a tiger steak.

Defeat Charles de Gaulle in a game of Indian hand wrestling.

Cry "mush!" to a dog sled team as a pack of arctic wolves closed in silently from behind.

Get a royal flush in a poker game when there was more than 68 cents in the pot.

Lead an elephant into a subway car during the morning rush hour—and then sit down in its lap.

Defeat a desert sheik in a horse race across the burning sands of Araby.

Save a wealthy banker's daughter from drowning by crawling across thin ice to the rescue.

Have my life changed for the better by following the advice given in a Chinese fortune cookie.

Beat a bongo drum in the Congo.

Hand a stack of chips to a mysterious blonde standing next to me at a roulette table at Monte Carlo and tell her, "Play any number you want, baby—"

there's lots more where that came from."

Pack up my troubles in my old kit bag, and smile, smile, smile.

Burn a joss stick in a ruined Chinese temple.

Wear a figleaf and a monocle to a dull P.T.A. meeting.

Well, that's a partial list of one man's unachieved daydreams. What are yours?

Ten years ago: A tense situation was building up between the Chinese Communists and Nationalists in the Formosa Strait.

Five years ago: The two-day-old son of President and Mrs. John F. Kennedy, Patrick Bouvier Kennedy, died in a Boston hospital.

One year ago: Fighting broke out in Colombia as national police moved to crush the largest underworld in Latin America.

Such affiliations offer distinct advantages for the film companies, most of which have followed independent courses since their beginnings. Movie production requires heavy capitalization, and the studios have had to rely on financing from leading banks. With a huge corporation standing behind a studio, the financing of films becomes much easier.

In the past two years, the film companies have become attractive investments. The reasons are two-fold:

1. Financiers have become aware of the immense value of the studios' backlogs of films in terms of their release to television. With the networks relying more and more on movies to fill their programming, the price tag on films continues to grow.

2. Corporations are looking for investments in the leisure time market, which will become more important as Americans have more time and money to spend on nonwork activities.

A SELDOM quoted episode concerning Will Rogers took place in 1930, when Coolidge Dam had been completed in Arizona. Will Rogers was a unanimous choice for master of the dedication ceremonies. It hadn't rained in those parts for a month of Sundays and as Rogers gazed over the sea of grass and weeds where San Carlos Lake was supposed to be filling up, he chuckled, "If that was my lake, I'd mow it!"

At considerable sacrifice, a New Haven couple raised the cash to put their somewhat slow-witted son through an intensive speed-reading course. It achieved results, too. The boy learned to read very much faster. The mother was forced to admit, however, that one thing was left out of the course. They never taught the boy to turn the pages fast enough.

Sholem Aleichem was probably called "the Jewish Mark Twain" just about as often as Mark Twain was called "the American Sholem Aleichem." The two great humorists met in New York in the first decade of the twentieth century and appreciated each other. Now, by virtue of "Huck Finn" and "Fiddler on the Roof" they both probably will—and should be—remembered forever.

Speaking of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

My husband and I are at the age of sixty-two and feel that we now can indulge ourselves in travel since our children have grown and married. Neither of us have been to any foreign country. We find that we are somewhat afraid of the possibility of being sick in a foreign land even though we at the present time are in perfect health. What recommendations do you have that will allay our fears?

Mr. and Mrs. C.B.K., N.C.
Dear Mr. and Mrs. K.: It is not unusual for people to be concerned about their health in foreign lands. Their dependence on their own personal physician gives them a tremendous sense of security. Years ago, travel and communication took so long that travelers armed themselves with all sorts of medical pills, drugs, and devices for fear that none of them would be obtainable in a foreign country. This is not true.

Today, six to eight hours is all that is necessary to return a person to his own community if his real concern about health threatens his holiday.

A complete physical examination, followed by specific instructions before the trip, would give you an added feeling of health security. If there are any unusual medical conditions, a letter outlining the problem, the nature of the treatment and the dosage of the drug is of special importance if consultation with a doctor is necessary while traveling.

The United States government makes it mandatory that a smallpox vaccination be done every three years before reentry from any foreign land. Local Boards of Health in every community can make specific suggestions about the need for typhoid, cholera and yellow fever inoculations if travel will take you to subtropical climates, or Asiatic countries.

The American Medical Association has prepared a medallion which can be worn around the wrist, the neck, or the ankle. On it is engraved any chronic condition that a person may have such as diabetes, epilepsy, allergy, or drug-sensitivity. This will immediately alert a doctor should any emergency arise. On it should also be included the name, the area code and telephone number of your own doctor, so that within minutes, a medical telephone consultation can take place.

An extra pair of eyeglasses and a prescription for the lens insures continued "sightseeing." The problem of drinking water is not complicated. In most cities in Western Europe the water is purified and safe. Drinking bottled water and washing the peel of fresh fruits is an excellent precaution. Milk should only be drunk if it has been pasteurized.

Let us suppose that there is a need for a physician. How do you go about finding one in a strange country? There is always the recommendation made by the hall porter. This I would not advise.

A safe rule is to call the administrator of a local hospital and ask him for the name of the chief of the department. If he is not available or cannot see you, you can be certain that the doctor he recommends will be a highly qualified one in all specialties.

There really is no reason why a happy holiday abroad or in distant parts of the United States should be affected by any unnecessary concern or precautions. The chances of becoming ill are no greater than they are if you stayed within the confines of your own home. Have a good trip and drop me a card.

Before the end of this next decade American women, too, will be in space, predicts Dr. Thomas O. Paine, a National Aeronautics and Space Administration official. We agree, Doc — the ladies have made so much progress no longer is the sky their limit.

Women in space would be no novelty to him, says the man at the next desk — he knows a number of girls who have always acted as though they were up in the air.

Tiny Leichtenstein has charged Swiss cops with issuing speeding tickets to motorists chased across its borders. Sort of blowing the whistle on them?

Australian fishermen seek protection of their rights against Japanese, Indonesian and Taiwan fishing boats intruding their nation's 12-mile territorial limit. The Aussies seem to feel they're getting hooked.

The Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — Nothing is more certain to cause normal calm men to lose their breath, their rationality and control of their blood pressure than the subject of inflation or, as some say, the debasement of currency.

Tell a man with two children that today he must earn $14,282 a year to equal the purchasing power of $5,000 in 1939 and the animal response is immediate, ranging in pitch from a bleat to a roar.

This quivering enemy - victim of inflation might actually become irrational to learn, as the First National City Bank reported this week, that the annual rate of dollar depreciation last year was 2.7 per cent, a rate greater than that of Britain, France and Germany, and Iran and Greece as well.

To strike this man dumb, however, one need only inform him that the currency showing the least depreciation in the past 10 years, according to First National City, is not the dollar but the quetzal of Guatemala.

Since 1957 the quetzal reportedly has dropped in value just one-tenth of one per cent a year or in dollar equivalent, just on penny in 10 years. The dollar has shrunk 16 cents in that time.

And, difficult as it is to believe, the First National City charts also show that the El Salvador colon, Venezuelan Bolivar and Thailand baht have maintained their lues better than the dollar.

Such statistics as these give fits to inflation frantic people. And even Dr. Franz Pick, a money and gold expert whose continental accent becomes heavy with denunciation when he speaks of the subject, refers to the U.S. dollarete.

Somehow, though, the figures just don't add up.

Seeking comfort, some slight relief was found in looking at the very worst, even though somebody else's headache doesn't necessarily cure the pain in another man's head.

In Brazil, to illustrate, 100 centavos of the year 1957 are now worth two centavos. In Argentina, 100 centavos in 10 years have been reduced to the purchasing power of six. And in Chile, 100 centesimos now get you only 11.

But it still doesn't seem right. Raw figures can lie, especially when the raw figures themselves are little more than lies to begin with.

The $5,000-a-year man of 1939 isn't nearly three times as badly off today, even though he must earn $14,282. The fact is, he is earning it—and more. He's much better off.

In addition, all that extra money isn't going into the filling of basic needs. A lot more of it is going to pay for what the man of 1939 couldn't aspire to: more education, better health care, pensions, a second car, television, hi-fi.

In other words, depreciation of currency doesn't always mean a reduction in take-home pay, not if the take-home pay is rising faster than inflation, as it has recently in the United States.

Still the figures do look puzzling, and so First National City was queried. And from there it was determined that the statistics are, at best, the only figures available at a rather bad lot.

For one thing, the statistics on cost of living in industrial countries and less well developed nations are hardly comparable at all. The figure for Saudi Arabia, in fact, looked too good to be true. First National City tossed it out.

It seems that the most accurate statistics generally are maintained by the industrial nations. In some small countries, for example, cost of living indexes are really based on surveys made years ago and not updated for changes in their habits. They could have more inflation than they admit.

The figures also might be distorted by the simplicity of the standard of living, which admits of no change, or by the fixing of prices on the one major crop, or simply, by stagnation of the economy at a low standard of living.

An absence of inflation in a country with a bogged-down economy is nothing to brag about. And though the depreciation of money and inflation are something to holler about, it's nice to know that the noise is muffled a bit by the sound of a booming economy.

Example Needed

The Senate Finance Committee has killed another of Lyndon Johnson's less popular ideas — a tax on expenditures by travelers abroad. Administration proposals for a 5 percent nuisance tax on air and ship tickets for overseas travel, and a sharply reduced customs exemption for travelers, are still alive but not given much chance of passage by Congress.

It isn't the tourists who contribute most to the nation's unfavorable balance of payments. It's the government. When it starts to cut back on its expenditures, abroad, perhaps the average American will also feel a little more like doing so.

According to Boyle

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — It isn't what a man gets or does that makes him happy—it's what he dreams of getting or doing.

When a man runs out of goals in this world he usually runs out of breath shortly thereafter. Rust clogs him, ennuï mows him down.

No matter how fruitless, inappropriate or downright foolish a dream may be, so long as it attracts that person's interest it keeps him alive. Most daydreams, in fact, are mock-heros. In his heart of hearts the most rut-bound man is always galloping off with the Three Musketeers on missions of danger and adventure.

For example, I find in making a rollcall of my own frustrated daydreams, I have yet to—

Stun a bully with a karate chop.

Play "kneesy under the table" with Kim Novak.

Build a steer or ride a bucking horse in a rodeo.

Buy a kitchen sink garbage grinder.

Belly up to the bar in the Ritz Hotel in Paris and ask the bartender whom he really liked better—F. Scott Fitzgerald or Ernest Hemingway.

Eat a pickled eel or a tiger steak.

Defeat Charles de Gaulle in a game of Indian hand wrestling.

Cry "mush!" to a dog sled team as a pack of arctic wolves closed in silently from behind.

Get a royal flush in a poker game when there was more than 68 cents in the pot.

Lead an elephant into a subway car during the morning rush hour—and then sit down in its lap.

Defeat a desert sheik in a horse race across the burning sands of Araby.

Save a wealthy banker's daughter from drowning by crawling across thin ice to the rescue.

Have my life changed for the better by following the advice given in a Chinese fortune cookie.

Beat a bongo drum in the Congo.

Hand a stack of chips to a mysterious blonde standing next to me at a roulette table at Monte Carlo and tell her, "Play any number you want, baby—

there's lots more where that came from."

Pack up my troubles in my old kit bag, and smile, smile, smile.

Burn a joss stick in a ruined Chinese temple.

Wear a figleaf and a monocle to a dull P.T.A. meeting.

Well, that's a partial list of one man's unachieved daydreams. What are yours?

Chicago Plans Airport in Lake

CHICAGO (AP) — Chicago's proposed in-lake airport has gained official support from city planners.

The commissioners of aviation, development and planning and public works are giving favorable reports to Mayor Richard J. Daley, who is selecting a site for a third airport.

The Lake Michigan site would be developed into a 27-square-mile air field by a system of dikes. It would have parallel runways of 15,000 feet each and facilities for passengers, cargo and auto parking.

Scheduled for completion in the late 1970s, it would be 5-1/2 miles offshore at 31st street.

Advantages are its proximity to the city, reduced travel time and commercial development prospects close to the core of the city.

Since 1957 the quetzal reportedly has dropped in value just one-tenth of one per cent a year or in dollar equivalent, just on penny in 10 years. The dollar has shrunk 16 cents in that time.

And, difficult as it is to believe, the First National City charts also show that the El Salvador colon, Venezuelan Bolivar and Thailand baht have maintained their lues better than the dollar.

Such statistics as these give fits to inflation frantic people. And even Dr. Franz Pick, a money and gold expert whose continental accent becomes heavy with denunciation when he speaks of the subject, refers to the U.S. dollarete.

Somehow, though, the figures just don't add up.

Seeking comfort, some slight relief was found in looking at the very worst, even though somebody else's headache doesn't necessarily cure the pain in another man's head.

In Brazil, to illustrate, 100 centavos of the year 1957 are now worth two centavos. In Argentina, 100 centavos in 10 years have been reduced to the purchasing power of six. And in Chile, 100 centesimos now get you only 11.

But it still doesn't seem right. Raw figures can lie, especially when the raw figures themselves are little more than lies to begin with.

The $5,000-a-year man of 1939 isn't nearly three times as badly off today, even though he must earn $14,282. The fact is, he is earning it—and more. He's much better off.

In addition, all that extra money isn't going into the filling of basic needs. A lot more of it is going to pay for what the man of 1939 couldn't aspire to: more education, better health care, pensions, a second car, television, hi-fi.

In other words, depreciation of currency doesn't always mean a reduction in take-home pay, not if the take-home pay is rising faster than inflation, as it has recently in the United States.

Still the figures do look puzzling, and so First National City was queried. And from there it was determined that the statistics are, at best, the only figures available at a rather bad lot.

For one thing, the statistics on cost of living in industrial countries and less well developed nations are hardly comparable at all. The figure for Saudi Arabia, in fact, looked too good to be true. First National City tossed it out.

It seems that the most accurate statistics generally are maintained by the industrial nations. In some small countries, for example, cost of living indexes are really based on surveys made years ago and not updated for changes in their habits. They could have more inflation than they admit.

The figures also might be distorted by the simplicity of the standard of living, which admits of no change, or by the fixing of prices on the one major crop, or simply, by stagnation of the economy at a low standard of living.

An absence of inflation in a country with a bogged-down economy is nothing to brag about. And though the depreciation of money and inflation are something to holler about, it's nice to know that the noise is muffled a bit by the sound of a booming economy.

French Promote Tourism As Slump Grips Country

By HARVEY HUDSON
Associated Press Writer

PARIS (AP) — When a tourist steps up to a French hotel's reception desk these days the greeting is "Oui, monsieur, what kind of a room would you like?"

Last year or most years before that during the summer season the reply would probably have been a grumpy "We're all filled up."

The change in the answer may be good for the tourists, but it's bad for the French tourist industry, which is sick.

The student-worker strikes, street fighting and general shut-down in May and June killed the summer season in Paris. Hotel keepers and restaurant owners have written it off as an almost complete loss. The tourist centers in the Provinces are hoping to salvage something from August but over all 1968 is an extremely bad year.

Hotel keepers, restaurant owners, night club operators and souvenir shop salesmen have one refrain: "The Americans have deserted us."

The Americans—urged to stay home to help with the dollar drain—were perhaps angered by the policies of President Charles de Gaulle, or scared away by the May-June upheaval. There are also fewer Englishmen and Germans.

Currency restrictions are a limiting factor for the English, and the Germans seemed to have been canceled during or after what the French call the "events" in May and June.

Even Frenchmen are contributing to the tourism slowdown. Fewer are leaving home for vacations, and those that do are spending less money and traveling shorter distances.

With low prices as a magnet, Spain has been attracting hordes of French tourists in recent years. But in the first days of July, only 40 per cent as many automobiles crossed the Spanish border as last year, and by the end of the month the figure was 70-75 per cent.

Even beyond the short-term effects of the strikes and student riots, French tourism has been going through a long-term sinking spell.

After World War II, the number of foreign tourists visiting France rose until it reached about 11 million persons in 1966. Last year it dropped back about 10 per cent. For the first time, Frenchmen spent more on tourism abroad than foreigners spent in France.

French tourism officials have been working to counter the harmful effects of reports of high prices.

With the summer season charged off as a loss, the next big effort will be on the rapidly expanding winter ski season. Modern resorts set in magnificent snow fields are challenging the longtime Swiss and Austrian dominance in this field.

Substitute Teachers May Join System
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio attorney general ruled today that substitute teachers in Ohio public schools are eligible for membership in the State Teachers Retirement System.

Atty. Gen. William B. Saxbe added that even though substitute teachers may be hired without a written contract, employment agreement between the teacher and the board of education is sufficient to make them eligible for retirement benefits.

IN THE COURT OF COMMON PLEAS, PICKAWAY COUNTY, OHIO PROBATE COURT DIVISION
In the Matter of the Estate of Charles E. Fausnaugh, deceased.
Notice of filing of petition for granting original administration after twenty years.

Notice is hereby given that on the 18th day of July, 1968, Gladys Wiggins filed her petition in the Common Pleas Court of Pickaway County, Ohio, asking that she be appointed administratrix of the estate of Charles E. Fausnaugh, deceased, who died on or about the 10th day of January, 1939, residing at 723 North Court Street, Circleville, Ohio, in said county, stating, although twenty years had expired from the death of the said decedent, letters of administration should be granted to her for the following reasons: It is necessary to administer the estate in order to transfer the real estate owned by the decedent to the next of kin of the decedent and to satisfy liens against the said real estate that have been created by some of the next of kin against the said real estate.

A hearing will be had in said court on said application on the 17th day of August, 1968, at 10:00 a.m.

Synthetic 'Pot' Poses Problems

WASHINGTON (AP) — A new cloud of worry is swirling up over marijuana.

The concern is whether underground chemists will succeed in making synthetic or artificial marijuana. If they do, then a few drops of the liquid "pot" could transform an ordinary cigarette into a potent reefer.

Such altered cigarettes might easily pass inspection. Smugglers and pushers might find dozens of new tricks for transporting the concentrated chemical.

American and Israeli chemists a few years ago discovered practical ways to synthesize the active ingredients of marijuana—chemicals known as tetrahydrocannabinols, or THC.

In quite normal scientific fashion, they published their findings. Some THC now is being made for legitimate research studies to pin down more knowledge about the psychological and health effects of marijuana, including any effects from using it regularly for long periods of time.

Federal agents have already "busted" several illegal laboratories where they found some of the starting chemicals with which to make THC, and literature about the process, says John Finator, associate director of the Bureau of Narcotics and Dangerous Drugs.

"We don't know if illegal THC will become a serious problem," Finator adds. "The raw materials for it are neither easy to make, or to find. But the underground press is looking for supplies. If underground chemists feel they can make money on it, and not get caught, they'll try to turn it out."

In a countermove, U.S. Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark on July 6 signed a proposal to make illegal manufacture or sale of THC a federal offense, punishable by a year in prison or $1,000 fine or both.

He acted under the Drug Abuse Control Amendments of 1965. Unless there is objection, the final order covering illegal THC would take effect early in October.

In tests with human volunteers, THC has produced effects such as those from natural marijuana. On low doses, volunteers said they felt happy, gay, silly, relaxed. On higher doses, some saw colors as being brighter, or felt their bodies become lighter.

On still higher doses, most volunteers had illusions, delusions, or hallucinations. THC was found to be 2.6 times more potent when smoked than when swallowed.

Synthetic THC might be produced illegally in pure extracts or as a kind of tarry substance that could be dissolved in alcohol or other solvent, says Fred Garfield, a chemist and deputy to Finator.

If a few drops were soaked or injected into a cigarette, the alcohol would soon evaporate, leaving the potent chemical behind in an almost unrecognizable form.

Legislation now pending in Congress would stiffen penalties for possession, manufacture, distribution, and intent to sell hallucinogenic drugs, including LSD, and sedative drugs and pep pills as well.

Simple possession of marijuana now is a felony under federal law, punishable by two or more years in prison. But under present law, possession of LSD, which is far more potent, for personal use is not an offense at all. The new proposals would make possession of LSD and other controlled drugs a misdemeanor. State laws vary widely in their provisions.

MR. AND MRS. DAVID E. ROESE

Miss Janet A. Stover, David E. Roese Are Wed In St. Matthew's Church

St. Matthew's Lutheran Church of Lockbourne was the setting for the candlelight ceremony of Saturday, June 29, which united Miss Janet A. Stover and David E. Roese. Reverend John Sorensen officiated at the double ring ceremony performed at 7:30 p.m.

The church was decorated with brass candelabra trimmed in huckleberry foliage and white satin bows. Bows and greenery marked family pews. On the altar was a sunburst arrangement of white gladioli and daisy pompons.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Stover of Route 1, Lockbourne. Mr. Roese is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Roese of Route 1, Ashville.

A half-hour of music preceded the ceremony with Mrs. Ruth Eccard as soloist accompanied by Mrs. Barbara Throp at the organ.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose for her wedding a floor length gown of white chantilly lace and crepe. The fitted bodice of lace was designed with a scalloped neckline edged with seed pearls and iridescents, long traditional sleeves and an arched waistline accented by a self-bow. A slender sheath skirt of lace which swept to a chapel length train. Covered buttons adorned the back neckline to waistline. An elbow length veil of illusion fell from a forward plateau of sheer netting and rosebuds adorned with seed pearls. The bride wore a small gold cross necklace, a gift from the groom. She carried a fashionable cascade of gardenias, red roses and stephanotis with variegated calypso ivy intertwined. Her bouquet featured a removable corsage of gardenias.

Mrs. Sandy Tilley served as her sister's matron of honor. The bridesmaids were Miss Karen Lombardo, Mrs. Donna Gloyd, Miss Sue Wilson and Miss Kathy Campbell. All attendants were identically attired in floor length gowns of candy pink chiffon styled with a rounded neckline and choirboy sleeves. Sheer panels floated over the empire bodice which was adorned at the waistline by velvet ribbon which streamed onto the slender sheath skirt. They wore matching headpieces with net veiling. All attendants wore a gold cross necklace, a gift from the bride. The honor attendant's bouquet was edged in hot pink daisies with the center of pink carnations and the streamers in symphony pink. Accents of leatherleaf fern encircled the arrangement. The bridesmaids carried colonial bouquets of pink carnations and hot pink daisy pompons.

Miss Shelly Stover served as flower girl. She wore a white lace over taffeta dress with an empire waistline accented with a white velvet bow. She wore a matching white bow headpiece with veiling and carried a miniature bouquet matching that of the honor attendant.

Mr. George Gregory served as best man. Ushers were Bruce Roese, Keith Roese, John Roese, James Tilley and Mike Lombardo. R. D. Roese served his brother as ring bearer.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Stover chose a turquoise shantung dress accented with braid, seed pearls and iridescents at the neckline and sleeves. She wore turquoise and black accessories. Mrs. Roese wore a green lace over beige crepe dress accented with green and beige accessories. Both mothers wore corsages of cymbidium orchids with detailed velvet ribbons to match their gowns.

A reception followed the ceremony in the social room of the church given by the Lydia Circle. Miss Marilyn Hay and Miss Laura Norris served as hostesses.

The couple spent their honeymoon at Virginia Beach and Washington D.C. The newlyweds will reside in Bowling Green, Ohio, this fall, where Mr. Roese is a student.

Calvary Church Groups Plan Trip

Conqueror's Class and Youth Fellowship of Calvary United Methodist Church will meet 7 p.m. Sunday at the church to attend the Christian Drive-in in Columbus.

Salem WCTU Makes Plans During Meet

Mrs. Hazel Leist, 115 N. Washington St., hosted the Salem Women's Christian Temperance Union in her home Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. Paul Hankins Sr., president, opened the program using as her theme "United Action." In closing the old year, a recount of accomplishments were given, including challenges for greater achievement for the new year.

Mrs. Bessie Allen read Scripture. In keeping with the Scripture lesson Mrs. Cleo Patrick selected "God's Command To Teach" for meditation and prayer.

The "New Crusade March" was read by the group followed by pledges to the flags.

Mrs. Ruth Woolever gave a reading from the Union Signal, "Recount That Set New Strategy." The new programs for a period of two years were discussed. The first quarter concerns a new membership drive.

Mrs. Flossie Dreisbach and Mrs. Altha Reichelderfer reported from WCTU Day held at Stoutsville Camp Ground.

Mrs. Hankins presented an outline of the program for the Lancaster Federation to be held August 13, 14 and 15, at the Methodist Camp Ground at Lancaster. The public is invited to attend all sessions.

"The Light of The World is Jesus" will be the theme of a candlelight devotional service Wednesday night. Mrs. Hankins, state director of Christian Outreach will be the narrator.

Two poems, "The Heavens Declare the Glory of God" and "Where There is Love" were read by the president in memory of Mrs. Florence Haughn.

The meeting was closed with a friendship circle of prayer, led by Mrs. Allen.

Refreshments were served during the social hour.

Homemade Ice Cream Social Set

Plans were made for a Homemade Ice Cream Social during the Sunday meeting of the New Holland United Methodist Young Adult Class. The bi-monthly meeting was held at the Atlanta Community House.

Singing of the Wesley Grace was followed by a potluck supper.

Reports were presented during the business session presided over by Jeanette Somers, president. Events to be sponsored by the class were discussed. The Ice Cream Social will be Sept. 20, at the New Holland United Methodist Church, with serving of cake, pie, sandwiches and homemade ice cream from 5-8 p.m. The Annual Turkey Dinner was slated to be held Nov. 14 at the church.

The large food mixer, purchased by the class for the church kitchen, was displayed. The remainder of the evening was spent playing games by the 35 class members and children present.

MR. AND MRS. GERALD LESLIE LEASURE

Miss Linda Sue Spiller, Gerald Leasure Are Wed

The Rev. Eugene Flowers performed the double ring ceremony uniting in marriage Miss Linda Sue Spiller and Gerald Leslie Leasure, Saturday evening, July 20, at the Good Shepherd United Methodist Church in Circleville.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Cox, 450 E. Ohio. Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Leasure, 324 S. Washington St., are parents of the groom.

A program of nuptial music was presented by Miss Lucille Kirkwood, organist.

Given in marriage by Mr. Cox, her step-father, the bride approached the altar in a white silk organza gown adorned with lace appliques and seed pearls on the brief sleeves, empire waist, deep hem and the circular chapel train. Her elbow length silk illusion veil was caught to a plateau of lace and seed pearls. She carried a cascade bouquet of white pompon mums and baby's breath, centered with a corsage of yellow rosebuds.

Miss Melissa Willoughby, maid of honor, was attired in a floor length gown of yellow crepe and chiffon with brief sleeves, empire waist and matching headpiece. She carried a bouquet of yellow pompon mums. Mrs. James Collins of Chillicothe, and Mrs. James Greiner, Circleville, sisters of the bride were bridesmaids. Their dresses were identical to that of the maid of honor in mint green. They wore corsages of yellow pompon mums.

Michele Collins, niece of the bride, was flower girl, wearing a floor length yellow gown and headpiece. She carried a white basket filled with rose petals.

Rick Congrove, cousin of the groom, served as best man. Seating the guests were Thomas Spiller, brother of the bride, and Timothy Leasure, brother of the groom.

A reception in the Service Center of the church, followed the ceremony.

MR. AND MRS. DAVID E. ROESE

Miss Janet A. Stover, David E. Roese Are Wed In St. Matthew's Church

St. Matthew's Lutheran Church of Lockbourne was the setting for the candlelight ceremony of Saturday, June 29, which united Miss Janet A. Stover and David E. Roese. Reverend John Sorensen officiated at the double ring ceremony performed at 7:30 p.m.

The church was decorated with brass candelabra trimmed in huckleberry foliage and white satin bows. Bows and greenery marked family pews. On the altar was a sunburst arrangement of white gladioli and daisy pompons.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Stover of Route 1, Lockbourne. Mr. Roese is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Roese of Route 1, Ashville.

A half-hour of music preceded the ceremony with Mrs. Ruth Eccard as soloist accompanied by Mrs. Barbara Throp at the organ.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose for her wedding a floor length gown of white chantilly lace and crepe. The fitted bodice of lace was designed with a scalloped neckline edged with seed pearls and iridescents, long traditional sleeves and an arched waistline accented by a self-bow. A slender sheath skirt of crepe featured a redingote of lace which swept to a chapel length train. Covered buttons adorned the back neckline to waistline. An elbow length veil of illusion fell from a forward plateau of sheer netting and rosebuds adorned by seed pearls. The bride wore a small gold cross necklace, a gift from the groom. She carried a fashionable cascade of gardenias, red roses and stephanotis with variegated californian ivy intertwined. Her bouquet featured a removable corsage of gardenias.

Mrs. Sandy Tilley served as her sister's matron of honor. The bridesmaids were Miss Karen Lombardo, Mrs. Donna Gloyd, Miss Sue Wilson and Miss Kathy Campbell. All attendants were identically attired in floor length gowns of candy pink chiffon styled with a rounded neckline and choirboy sleeves. Sheer panels floated over the empire bodice which was adorned at the waistline by velvet ribbon which streamed onto the slender sheath skirt. They wore matching headpieces with net veiling. All attendants wore a gold cross necklace, a gift from the bride. The honor attendant's bouquet was edged in hot pink daisies with the center of pink carnations and the streamers in symphony pink. Accents of leatherleaf fern encircled the arrangement. The bridesmaids carried colonial bouquets of pink carnations and hot pink daisy pompons.

Miss Shelly Stover served as flower girl. She wore a white lace over taffeta dress with an empire waistline accented with a white velvet bow. She wore a matching white bow headpiece with veiling and carried a miniature bouquet matching that of the honor attendant.

Mr. George Gregory served as best man. Ushers were Bruce Roese, Keith Roese, John Roese, James Tilley and Mike Lombardo. R. D. Roese served his brother as ring bearer.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Stover chose a turquoise shantung dress accented with braid, seed pearls and iridescents at the neckline and sleeves. She wore turquoise and black accessories. Mrs. Roese wore a green lace over beige crepe dress accented with green and beige accessories. Both mothers wore corsages of cymbidium orchids with detailed velvet ribbons to match their gowns.

A reception followed the ceremony in the social room of the church given by the Lydia Circle. Miss Marilyn Hay and Miss Laura Norris served as hostesses.

The couple spent their honeymoon at Virginia Beach and Washington D.C. The newlyweds will reside in Bowling Green, Ohio, this fall, where Mr. Roese is a student.

Salem WCTU Makes Plans During Meet

Mrs. Hazel Leist, 115 N. Washington St., hosted the Salem Women's Christian Temperance Union in her home Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. Paul Hankins Sr., president, opened the program using as her theme "United Action." In closing the old year, a recount of accomplishments were given, including challenges for greater achievement for the new year.

Mrs. Bessie Allen read Scripture. In keeping with the Scripture lesson Mrs. Cleo Patrick selected "God's Command To Teach" for meditation and prayer.

The "New Crusade March" was read by the group followed by pledges to the flags.

Mrs. Ruth Woolever gave a reading from the Union Signal, "Recount That Set New Strategy." The new programs for a period of two years were discussed. The first quarter concerns a new membership drive.

Mrs. Flossie Dreisbach and Mrs. Altha Reichelderfer reported from WCTU Day held at Stoutsville Camp Ground.

Mrs. Hankins presented an outline of the program for the Lancaster Federation to be held August 13, 14 and 15, at the Methodist Camp Ground at Lancaster. The public is invited to attend all sessions.

"The Light of the World is Jesus" will be the theme of a candlelight devotional service Wednesday night. Mrs. Hankins, state director of Christian Outreach will be the narrator.

Two poems, "The Heavens Declare the Glory of God" and "Where There is Love" were read by the president in memory of Mrs. Florence Haugh.

The meeting was closed with a friendship circle of prayer, led by Mrs. Allen.

Refreshments were served during the social hour.

Homemade Ice Cream Social Set

Plans were made for a Homemade Ice Cream Social during the Sunday meeting of the New Holland United Methodist Young Adult Class. The bimonthly meeting was held at the Atlanta Community House.

Singing of the Wesley Grace was followed by a potluck supper.

Reports were presented during the business session presided over by Jeanette Somers, president. Events to be sponsored by the class were discussed. The Ice Cream Social will be Sept. 20, at the New Holland United Methodist Church, with serving of cake, pie, sandwiches and homemade ice cream from 5-8 p.m. The Annual Turkey Dinner was slated to be held Nov. 14 at the church.

The large food mixer, purchased by the class for the church kitchen, was displayed.

The remainder of the evening was spent playing games by the 35 class members and children present.

MR. AND MRS. GERALD LESLIE LEASURE

Miss Linda Sue Spiller, Gerald Leasure Are Wed

The Rev. Eugene Flowers performed the double ring ceremony uniting in marriage Miss Linda Sue Spiller and Gerald Leslie Leasure, Saturday evening, July 20, at the Good Shepherd United Methodist Church in Circleville.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Cox, 450 E. Ohio. Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Leasure, 324 S. Washington St., are parents of the groom.

A program of nuptial music was presented by Miss Lucille Kirkwood, organist.

Given in marriage by Mr. Cox, her step-father, the bride approached the altar in a white silk organza gown adorned with lace appliques and seed pearls on the brief sleeves, empire waist, deep hem and the circular chapel train. Her elbow length silk illusion veil was caught to a plateau of lace and seed pearls. She carried a cascade bouquet of white pompon mums and baby's breath, centered with a corsage of yellow rosebuds.

Miss Melissa Willoughby, maid of honor, was attired in a floor length gown of yellow crepe and chiffon with brief sleeves, empire waist and matching headpiece. She carried a bouquet of yellow pompon mums. Mrs. James Collins of Chillicothe, and Mrs. James Greiner, Circleville, sisters of the bride were bridesmaids. Their dresses were identical to that of the maid of honor in mint green. They wore corsages of yellow pompon mums.

Michele Collins, niece of the bride, was flower girl, wearing a floor length yellow gown and headpiece. She carried a white basket filled with rose petals.

Rick Congrove, cousin of the groom, served as best man. Seating the guests were Thomas Spiller, brother of the bride, and Timothy Leasure, brother of the groom.

A reception in the Service Center of the church, followed the ceremony.

Following a wedding trip to Niagara Falls, N. Y., the couple will reside at A. and W. Trailer Court.

The new Mrs. Leasure is a 1968 graduate of Circleville High School. She is presently employed by the First National Bank.

Churches Move To Help Biafrans

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — "For God's sake please airlift more baby food immediately. Thousands of children dying daily. Situation appalling."

The cablegram from a Catholic missionary priest this week, citing the desperation in the blockaded Biafra region of embattled Nigeria, was part of a dramatic, mounting interfaith operation to check mass starvation there.

American Catholic and Protestant relief agencies joined their efforts in the emergency, and for the first time, major Jewish organizations pooled their resources to send aid through the Christian channels.

"It's an unprecedented common response," said Rabbi Marc Tanenbaum, an executive of the American Jewish Committee who has drawn most leading Jewish groups into concerted action to back the undertaking.

Through both Catholic Relief Services here and the interdenominational Protestant-Orthodox Church World Service, a rising tide of high-protein foods and medicines moved toward the region of crisis.

There were international complications, pressures and bottlenecks. But despite the difficulties, some church cargoes still were getting through, with indications of a bigger flow.

"Thank God for what Christian bodies are doing," said an American United Nations official. "Without them the consequences would be even more ghastly."

In the tangle of restrictions and civil war, the religious relief effort took on the covert, perilous quality of underground border running—by night airlifts. Church officials said five planes have been lost, either crashed or shot down.

Meanwhile, a roundabout telephone message received here from Dr. H. J. Middelkoop, a World Council physician at Queen Elizabeth Hospital in Biafra, said the number dying daily had increased from 2,000 two weeks ago to 6,000 a day now.

Religious groups—Protestant, Catholic and Jewish—joined in appeals to President Johnson and congressional leaders to provide helicopter food airlifts to both sides in the struggle.

The religion officials also scheduled meetings with Secretary of State Dean Rusk about it, noting that their relief efforts could scarcely dent the enormous starvation devastating the war-blocked region.

Amid the tightening blockade, a Church World Service spokesman said: "The irony of it is that we've got food galore" stored along the perimeter of Nigeria, but can't get in. We're blocked off, even our sneak flights."

Catholic and Protestant organizations joined this week in providing recorded appeals for contributions to about 4,300 radio stations across the country, and picture slides and appeals to about 600 television stations.

Each American Christian branch already has raised more than $300,000, and Church World Service is seeking $1 million as relief arm, in addition to the $3.8 its share in a special $3-million million in goods it already has drive by the World Council's re- sent to the area.

Church Briefs

"You Are The Church" is the sermon topic chosen for services of Community Methodist Church on Sunday. The Rev. Kenneth A. Erwin, new executive director of Goodwill Industries of Central Ohio, will speak at both services. Tuesday meetings include trustees, commission on membership and Christian social concerns 7 p.m.; commission of finance, 7:30 p.m. and official board 8 p.m.

The Kline Trio from Urbana will present a program of music at the Sunday morning worship service of the Campus Union of Christ in Christian Church. Speaking at the evening service will be Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Brown, missionaries under appointment to the Texas-Mexican border. The Rev. and Mrs. George Blackstone will present special music for this service.

The sermon topic for Sunday morning at the First Presbyterian Church will be "A Rebel with a Plan." The Westminster Bible Class picnic scheduled for Tuesday has been cancelled. The annual church picnic will be held Wednesday at Gold Cliff Park beginning 5:30 p.m.

"Church Prosperity" is the sermon topic for Sunday morning at Good Shepherd United Methodist Church. Circle 2 will meet 7:30 p.m. Monday in the home of Mrs. Ira Valentine, Stoutsville. Circle 3 will meet also on Monday in the home of Mrs. David Steele. Boy Scout Troop 155 meets 6:30 p.m. Tuesday in the Service Center. The Hour of Power will be 7:30 p.m. Wednesday.

Sunday morning at the Church of the Brethren the sermon topic will be "Truth That Is Stranger Than Fiction." The evening topic will be "Disciples Make Disciples." Women's Fellowship will meet 7:30 p.m. Tuesday at the church.

The sermon theme for Sunday morning at Trinity Lutheran Church will be "On Your Terms or His?" Ruth Circle will meet 5 p.m. Wednesday for a picnic supper at Ted Lewis Park.

The public meeting and Bible study of Jehovah's Witnesses will not be held this Sunday because of the district assembly in Columbus.

Conqueror's Class and Youth Fellowship of Calvary United Methodist Church will meet 7 p.m. Sunday at the church to attend the Christian Drive-in in Columbus. WSCS will meet 9:30 a.m. Tuesday at the church. Crusader's Class will meet 6:30 p.m. Thursday at A. W. Marion State Park.

Agnew's Political Thinking Shows Changes over Years

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP) — Gov. Spiro "Ted" Agnew of Maryland, the Republican vice presidential nominee, has changed his political thinking over the years.

The 49-year-old candidate switched from the Democrats to the GOP in post-World War II days. In the past six months, he has gone through a re-evaluation period which he changed from moderate to conservative, from Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller to Richard M. Nixon, and from a position as an emphatic noncandidate to the second spot on the Republican ticket.

Agnew has more than two years remaining of his four-year gubernatorial term. He swept past Democrat George P. Mahoney in 1966 by nearly 100,000 votes on a liberal platform that included an open-occupancy plank.

The liberal stance was not new to the son of a Greek immigrant whose father changed his name from Anagnostopoulos. It was during his administration as Baltimore County executive that the county became one of the first in the country to enact a law banning racial discrimination in public accommodations.

"Let's keep Maryland in the mainstream of America," he asked voters during his successful bid for governor in 1966, as he called Mahoney a "bigot, racist, incompetent, menace to Maryland."

Mahoney campaigned on a platform deploring crime in the streets and with a slogan "Your home is your castle, protect it."

But Agnew's political posture changed slowly but radically in the last six months, although he told reporters shortly before leaving for Miami Beach, "I haven't changed."

"I'm standing still; it's just that others are moving more to the left," he said.

The switch became evident last April when Agnew rebuked Baltimore Negro leaders following the riots touched off by the assassination of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

Agnew charged that they stood silent while outside militants fanned the flames of insurrection.

of heroes

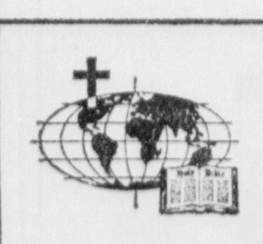

It's pretty exhausting to have two big brothers that excel in everything!

Of course, there are advantages. Like the time a bully beat me up—my brothers followed me to school for two weeks. They wouldn't have fought him, but he didn't know that. Every night they worked out with me. Finally, I took him on and won.

My brothers are first-rate in everything — studies and athletics. There's nothing wishy-washy about them—if they don't think something's right, they say so. When there was a "walk-out" at school, they squashed it, practically single-handed.

Because our parents have always taken us to church and taught us God's way, my brothers are strong-principled and good. I aim to be like them.

Your church is a training ground for integrity!

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — What ever may be the appeal of Richard M. Nixon as a candidate for president, he proved on Thursday morning to be his party's best television producer.

Candidate Nixon's stage-managing of the announcement of his choice of a running mate gave the big Republican show a surprise climax that followed the only suspense created during the four days.

Of course, the form and protocols of the unwieldy political convention were constructed long before the existence of television or even radio, and in days when the William Jennings Bryan school of oratory was in higher public esteem than it is today.

But it does seem a shame that the most meaningful speech of the convention, the candidate's acceptance speech, should come to the ears of the nation's millions after more than three days of speech-making and a steady stream of political chatter.

Presumably the Democrats have been monitoring their rivals' Miami Beach production in an effort to learn how to avoid some traps, but it is doubtful that much can be done to enliven the proceedings in Chicago.

Nixon, asking his conferees to refrain from discussing his possible choice for vice president—and making the request stick—caught the television analysts, rumor-catchers and political experts by surprise. It was a weary-looking candidate, after one hour of sleep since his nomination, who walked before the television cameras Thursday afternoon and announced his choice of Maryland Gov. Spiro T. Agnew.

Minutes before, the TV talk had concentrated on three names: Sens. Mark Hatfield and Howard Baker and New York Mayor John Lindsay. Surprise—almost shock—was evident in their voices.

CBS wasted no time in inviting Nixon "to participate with your Democratic opponent" in a series of broadcast discussions during the campaign. The invitation, by CBS President Frank Stanton, was accepted by Nixon through his communications manager, Herb Klein, the network said.

Presumably the other networks are just as eager for televised confrontations between the major party candidates.

A resolution suspending a section of the Federal Communications Act which requires television to provide equal time for all candidates for an office has been passed by the House and awaits Senate action.

That section was suspended in the 1960 campaign and made possible the famous confrontations of Nixon and John F. Kennedy.

Nixon concededly was the loser in the encounters—he has been making jokes about his performance during this campaign—but he obviously believes that he has learned how better to handle his broadcasting appearances in the intervening years.

Four years ago, although the broadcasters pushed mightily for congressional action to permit Johnson-Goldwater debates, no suspension was passed.

ACCEPTED BY FBI—Bessie Anderson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Anderson, 151 Logan St., received announcement Thursday that she has been accepted for training in clerical work by the Federal Bureau of Investigation in Washington, D. C. Miss Anderson, a 1968 graduate of Circleville High School, will be notified at a later date when she will report to begin her training.

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

Old Man Offers To Buy Young Widow

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am deeply involved with this man who lives next door. He is old enough to be my grandfather. When he touches me, I break out in a rash from nerves. His breath smells just terrible and he gives me the creeps, but he is so good to me, you wouldn't believe it.

He asked me how much my take-home pay was (I work part time in a grocery store) and he then offered to pay me TWICE that amount if I would stay home and keep him company. I am 22, and my husband died last year and left me with two children and no money. Only debts.

I have to be careful not to let any fellows come around because this old man sits in the window and watches my house and he gets awfully jealous. I would move, but I can't afford to.

What should I do? This old man has lots of money which he says he will leave to me if I treat him right, but he makes me sick.

IN NEED

DEAR IN: If you want to "sell" yourself, you have a ready buyer. But if you want to call your soul your own, choose your own company and keep your health, you will free yourself from an involvement which makes you "sick." Don't accept anything from him and quit seeing him. Then go to work, and do the best you can for yourself and your babies.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 16-year-old high school girl. I am reasonably attractive, which adds to my problem.

Abby, I get this sick feeling all over whenever a boy touches me. I went to a movie last Friday night with a boy and he went thru the usual affectionate states. First, handholding, then he put his arm around the back of my chair. By the time we got to the good-night kiss, I wanted to vomit.

This happens with every boy I go out with. I don't mind telling you that when I tell a boy "hands (and lips) off," he gets very angry. Judging from what the other girls say about how much they enjoy this sort of thing, I am wondering if maybe there isn't something wrong with me? What do you think?

"TOUCH ME NOT"

DEAR "TOUCH": You are probably a little more "frightened" by the "affectionate" advances of a boy than most girls your age. In a year or so, if you are still so physically repelled by a "good-night kiss," write to me again.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 30-year-old man with an unusual problem. I love to dance, and I must admit I am a very good dancer. Well, every time my wife and I go some place where there is dancing, I don't get a chance to dance with my wife. She is always saying, "Go dance with so and so," and then she shoves me off to dance with some old maid, widow, or wallflower. These wallflower types are usually lousy dancers.

I think my wife is very big-hearted and all to want to give these single women a treat, but it's no fun for me. Any suggestions?

TWINKLE TOES

DEAR TWINKLE: Are you bragging or complaining? Your wife is a doll to be so generous. You just might have to get your dancing in at home.

Rockefeller Disappointed; Rejects Nixon Invitation

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller finished a week of political frustration today, heading for home bitterly disappointed over his failure to capture the Republican presidential nomination and resentful of Richard M. Nixon's choice for his running mate.

The New York governor masked his emotions long enough to go before the Republican National Convention Thursday night to congratulate Nixon on his victory in gaining the presidential nomination.

He was greeted by cheers and prolonged applause, repeated when he declared:

"The convention has spoken and I support the decision of the convention."

But persons close to Rockefeller said he felt deeply affronted by Nixon's selection of Maryland Gov. Spiro T. Agnew for the supporting role on his ticket.

Agnew lost favor with Rockefeller by switching from the governor to Nixon in the critical late stages of the competition.

"This was a slap at the governor," a high-ranking Rockefeller aide contended.

The sources said Rockefeller was invited to be on the platform with Nixon Thursday night to demonstrate that the wounds of intraparty battle had been healed. But Rockefeller refused to participate in what he called a "love feast."

Instead, the sources said, Rockefeller told Convention Chairman Gerald R. Ford that he would not address the convention at all, unless he could appear by himself before Nixon arrived. His terms were accepted.

In his very brief speech,

Rockefeller made no reference to the Agnew matter.

His warm reception contrasted vividly with the 1964 GOP National Convention when he was booed by admirers of Barry M. Goldwater.

A few hours after Rockefeller left the hall Thursday, New York's delegation cast the votes that put Agnew over the top in a contest with Michigan Gov. George Romney.

DEAR IN: If you want to "sell" yourself, you have a ready buyer. But if you want to call your soul your own, choose your own company and keep your health, you will free yourself from an involvement which makes you "sick." Don't accept anything from him and quit seeing him. Then go to work, and do the best you can for yourself and your babies.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 16-year-old high school girl. I am reasonably attractive, which adds to my problem.

Abby, I get this sick feeling all over whenever a boy touches me. I went to a movie last Friday night with a boy and he went thru the usual affectionate states. First, handholding, then he put his arm around the back of my chair. By the time we got to the good-night kiss, I wanted to vomit.

This happens with every boy I go out with. I don't mind telling you that when I tell a boy "hands (and lips) off," he gets very angry. Judging from what the other girls say about how much they enjoy this sort of thing, I am wondering if maybe there isn't something wrong with me? What do you think?

"TOUCH ME NOT"

DEAR "TOUCH": You are probably a little more "frightened" by the "affectionate" advances of a boy than most girls your age. In a year or so, if you are still so physically repelled by a "good-night kiss," write to me again.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 30-year-old man with an unusual problem. I love to dance, and I must admit I am a very good dancer. Well, every time my wife and I go some place where there is dancing, I don't get a chance to dance with my wife. She is always saying, "Go dance with so and so," and then she shoves me off to dance with some old maid, widow, or wallflower. These wallflower types are usually lousy dancers.

I think my wife is very big-hearted and all to want to give these single women a treat, but it's no fun for me. Any suggestions?

TWINKLE TOES

DEAR TWINKLE: Are you bragging or complaining? Your wife is a doll to be so generous. You just might have to get your dancing in at home.

Rockefeller Disappointed; Rejects Nixon Invitation

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller finished a week of political frustration today, leading for home bitterly disappointed over his failure to capture the Republican presidential nomination and resentful of Richard M. Nixon's choice for his running mate.

The New York governor masked his emotions long enough to go before the Republican National Convention Thursday night to congratulate Nixon on his victory in gaining the presidential nomination.

He was greeted by cheers and prolonged applause, repeated when he declared:

"The convention has spoken and I support the decision of the convention."

But persons close to Rockefeller said he felt deeply affronted by Nixon's selection of Maryland Gov. Spiro T. Agnew for the supporting role on his ticket.

Agnew lost favor with Rockefeller by switching from the governor to Nixon in the critical late stages of the competition. "This was a slap at the governor," a high-ranking Rockefeller aide contended.

The sources said Rockefeller was invited to be on the platform with Nixon Thursday night to demonstrate that the wounds of intraparty battle had been healed. But Rockefeller refused to participate in what he called a "love feast."

Instead, the sources said, Rockefeller told Convention Chairman Gerald R. Ford that he would not address the convention at all, unless he could appear by himself before Nixon arrived. His terms were accepted.

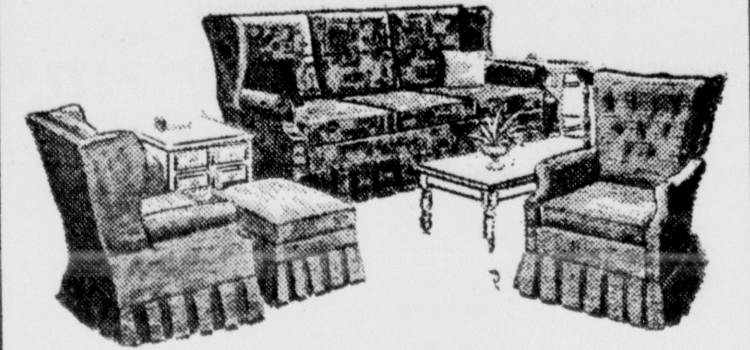

In his very brief speech,

Rockefeller made no reference to the Agnew matter.

His warm reception contrasted vividly with the 1964 GOP National Convention when he was booed by admirers of Barry M. Goldwater.

A few hours after Rockefeller left the hall Thursday, New York's delegation cast the votes that put Agnew over the top in a contest with Michigan Gov. George Romney.

Heavy Exhibition Schedule Slated by AFL and NFL

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer
Pittsburgh is at St. Louis and Cleveland is at Los Angeles to night in the openers for a four-day pro football exhibition schedule that was thrown into some confusion late Thursday by the cancellation of a scheduled Detroit-Philadelphia game in Mexico City.

The Eagles and Lions were slated to play in a Sunday afternoon game to be televised nationally in the United States. No reason was given for the cancellation in the joint announcements made in Mexico City, Philadelphia and Detroit Thursday night, but there was speculation the game was called because of student unrest that has plagued the city in recent months.

National Football League officials, along with the Lions and Eagles immediately began working on providing another site for the game.

Whether the game goes on or not, at least 12 others will. The long weekend winds up Monday night with the New York Jets playing Houston in the Astro-dome.

Seven games are scheduled Saturday, including two more of those NFL vs. AFL affairs, and at least two Sunday games, perhaps three if the Philadelphia-Detroit problem can be solved.

The Rams-Browns clash features a meeting of the NFL's defending Coastal and Century Division champions. The Rams, who won their opener on two late touchdown passes by Roman Gabriel are favored by a touchdown, even though not at full strength.

Defensive end David Jones and split end Jack Snow ended their salary dispute holdouts Thursday. They won't play tonight.

Young quarterbacks will be in action in the St. Louis-Pittsburgh game, Jim Hart for the Cards.

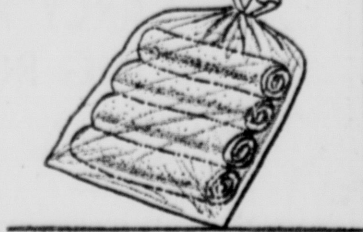

Pittsburgh Coach Bill Austin said Thursday Kent Nix will play the first half and Dick Shiner will take over. "We'll do it that way for perhaps the first three games," Austin said. "From then on, we'll play it by ear."

The NFL, trailing 3-1 in its exhibitions with the AFL, hopes to catch up Saturday. Kansas City of the AFL was impressive in a 38-14 victory over expansion NFL team Cincinnati last week and now goes against the Vikings at Minnesota. Boston of the AFL opens at NFL New Orleans.

Czechs Prepare Welcome For Liberal Backer Tito

PRAGUE (AP) — Prague prepared a warm welcome for Yugoslav President Tito today to express Czechoslovakia's gratitude for his support against the Russians, Poles and East Germans.

Thousands of citizens were expected to set aside their usual weekend plans to cheer the 76-year-old apostle of independent communism who stuck by Czechoslovakia's like-minded leaders during their showdown with the orthodox Communist regimes in Moscow, Warsaw and East Berlin.

The Czechoslovak leaders were supported by Tito, the Romanian Communist leaders who rebelled against Moscow's domination months ago, and the leaders of the French and Italian Communist parties. This support and the fact that the Czechoslovak people were solidly behind their new leaders are believed to have been the decisive factors which produced the "live and let live" agreement at the Bratislava conference last weekend.

Prague newspapers prominently featured the recent declaration by Tito that he was ready to go "any time of the day or night and to any place" to support the Czechoslovak Communist party's new chief, Alexander Dubcek.

His statement came at the height of the tension between Czechoslovakia and its "northern tier" allies in the Warsaw Pact, when it appeared that the Soviets might use their troops to reverse Dubcek's program of liberal reform and reinstate the ousted Stalinist president and party leader, Antonin Novotny. "This support at a time critical for Czechoslovakia will certainly not be forgotten," said the farmers' newspaper Zemedelske Noviny on the eve of Tito's visit. "Tito's trip to Prague had been scheduled three times during the past month but was postponed each time because of negotiations between the Czechoslovak leaders and the Moscow group. The idea was to leave the Russians some room for maneuver so that they could save as much face as possible."

The daily double of Victory Ron and Tennessee Pace (6-4) paid $27.

John Schlee Takes Lead At Akron

Associated Press Sports Writer
AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Lightly regarded John Schlee finally has emerged from a long slump that could lead to a $25,000 jackpot.

"I've had a bad summer," the third-year pro from Dallas said Thursday after he blistered the back-breaking 7,180-yard Firestone Country Club layout with a five-under-par 33-32-65.

Schlee's sizzling round, which included eight birdies and three bogeys, equaled the course record held jointly by Don Fairfield, Bob Rosburg and Arnold Palmer.

The 6-foot-2, 165-pound pro carried a two-stroke lead into today's second round of the $125,000 American Golf Classic.

In hot pursuit was 23-year-old Bob Lunn, who posted an opening 35-32-67.

Three strokes off the par at 68 were veterans Art Wall Jr., Gardner Dickinson, Johnny Pott, 1967 NCAA collegiate champ Hale Irwin of Colorado and Lee Elder, the 1963 Negro Golfer of the Year.

Four back of the leader at 69 were Bruce Crampton, Don Bies and Tom Weiskopf, the year's leading money winner with more than $140,000.

Still in contention at even par 70 were defending champion Palmer, Nicklaus, who started poorly with a double bogey 6 on the first hole, Larry Mowry, Hideyo Sugimoto, Frank Beard, Bobby Cole, George Knudson, Masters champ Bob Goalby and former National Amateur king Bill Campbell.

PGA titlist Julius Boros shot a 73, while U.S. Open champion Lee Trevino struggled to a 75.

The field of 127 pros and three amateurs was to be trimmed after today's round to the low 70 scores and ties.

Red Wings Move Up in IL Action

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Rochester's Red Wings are moving up in the International League pennant race, and one of the big reasons is the thunder in Merv Rettenmund's bat.

He knocked in five runs Thursday night with a homer and a single in a 16-1 rout of Columbus. That brought his home run total for the season to 21, and his RBI total to 55.

With league-leading Toledo rained out at Richmond, the Rochester triumph enabled the Wings to move within 4½ games of the Mud Hens.

In other action, Jacksonville shut out Buffalo 7-0 and Syracuse whipped Louisville 6-3.

Gang Figure Is Convicted Of Assault

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)— Carlos Marcello, a New Orleans racket figure, was convicted Thursday of assaulting FBI agent Patrick J. Collins Jr. at the New Orleans airport.

The U.S. District Court jury of 10 men and two women deliberated almost four hours before returning the verdict.

Sentencing was set for Sept. 12 and Marcello stayed free under bond. Defense lawyers gave notice of appeal.

Witnesses testified that the incident occurred Sept. 30, 1966 after Marcello, 58, his brother Joe Marcello Jr. and his son Joe C. Marcello walked through the New Orleans Airport while being followed by news photographers. Collins and another FBI agent were in the crowd of newsmen.

Marcello has been identified by a national magazine as the New Orleans boss of the Cosa Nostra.

Conviction of assault on a federal officer carries a maximum sentence of three years. Judge John V. Singleton Jr. ordered a presentencing report on Marcello.

Canadian Mail Strike Over As Workers OK Proposal

OTTAWA (AP) — Canada's three-week mail strike ended and the nation's 24,000 postal workers began returning to their jobs Thursday after voting to accept the new contract.

Union leaders said 12,173 members voted to accept the new contract giving them less than half the wage increase the union demanded. There were 8,164 votes against.

The agreement provides for a 2 cent an hour wage increase retroactive to Aug. 1, 1967, and in October another 8 cents an hour through September 1969. The unions sought 75 cents an hour for 4 months starting last August. Postal pay had averaged $2.75 an hour.

The long process of sorting an estimated 15 million pieces of backed-up mail began late Thursday night as some of the postal workers began returning to work. They looked forward to a bonus of about $430 in retroactive extra pay.

The Post Office Department asked the public not to overload the system until it could be brought back to normal. One of official predicted this would take until the end of next week.

Another spokesman said official and first-class mail service would resume today and all mail boxes would be cleared. An embargo on second and third class mail will last until the first class backlog is cleared up. "We're going to have some heavy bags for the boys tomorrow," shouted one Toronto worker Thursday night after about 400 sorters arrived for work. "Tomorrow's what I'd call a letter carrier's day."

Nevele Pride Seen Winner

YONKERS, N.Y. (AP) — That Hambletonian jinx of Stanley Dancer's will have to work overtime this year to keep the famed harness racing driver from sweeping trotting's Triple Crown.

The reason is simple. Dancer will be driving Nevele Pride, a 3-year-old colt hailed as the best trotter in the United States and "just a big frisky kid" who hasn't yet reached his full potential.

Dancer never has won the Hambletonian, sometimes called the Kentucky Derby of the sulky set, but if he misses this year with Nevele Pride it would be the greatest upset in trotting history.

Phillips Presents Almost Identical Scioto Race Card

Scioto Downs Racing Director John Phillips reported that last Saturday when two horses cracked the two-minute mile on the Columbus track was "the high point of my career."

Irish Miracle won the $5,500 Invitational Pace in a dazzling 1:59 4-5 and, in the race just prior to that, Gene Riegler's Ozzie Hanover blistered the track with a victory in 1:58 3-5. Phillips' weekend racing cards seem to get better and better.

Ozzie Hanover will be competing in the $100,000 Adios stake this weekend, but Phillips has brought the same Invitational Pace field back for another attack on the stop watch. Irish Miracle, owned by Harry Distelhorst of Columbus, will defend his new found fame against a field that includes the great Kabulo who cut out last week's blazer with a first quarter time in 28 2-5, and the three quarter time in 1:29 1-5; Hi Leo who led last week at the head of the stretch; Miss Red Lion who finished second to Irish Miracle; the great Bank Time who owns a record of 1:59 4-5 and the speedy Castle Knight with a record of 1:53 4-5.

The weekend gets started off in fine style Friday night with another presentation of the $5,500 Invitational Trot. This weekly trotting spectacular has kept the fans right on the edge of their seats every time. Lil Rodney, five time winner of the Scioto Invitational, will defend against her constant rival Lynn Lee, Gay Saint Pat from the Clyde Miller stable. Stormed for Emmor Bailey up; Songs Key who just missed two weeks ago in 2:02; The Timer, a 2:02 3-5 this year at Scioto; Marengo Date who earned a shot at the invitational after a sparkling victory last week in 2:03 3-5 in a preferred event; and making his first start this year, the fabulous Interloper from the Ray Garrity stable of Washington C.H., Highlight the field.

North-South All-Star Tilt Set Tonight

CANTON, Ohio (AP) — The South squad will be seeking its third straight victory when scholastic standouts from northern and southern Ohio meet tonight in the 23rd annual North-South All-Star Football Game at Fawcett Stadium.

Craig Lambert, 230-pound 6-foot tackle, will be playing in the North-South Prep All-Star game on the south squad. Lambert, son of Mrs. Louise Lambert, 69 Bolens Ave., is a 1968 Circleville High School graduate.

The southern contingent won 40-12 last year in the most lopsided game in the history of the series. Altogether, the South has won 11 times to nine for the North, and there have been two ties.

Bill Wilkins, who coached Shelby High to an undefeated season last year, is mentor of the North squad. He says he has been impressed by the way his charges have looked in workouts despite the heat and humidity of the last few days.

But he noted that the South "is bigger and has good talent." If the North is to win, Wilkins declared, "we will have to outquick them and block and tackle well."

Wilkins singled out halfback Tom Campana from Kent Roosevelt and quarterback Don Lamka from Cleveland South for praise.

Key men on the line, Wilkins said, will be tackles Steve Betz of Minerva and Tom Houser of Massillon.

Dick Haines of Dover High, also undefeated last year, is coach of the South squad. He said the South will count on passing for a major portion of its offense, especially if the heat wave continues.

Handling the passing will be quarterbacks John Motil of Columbus Waterson and Mike Heizman of Colerain. The South also has a couple of outstanding backs in Harry Howard of Cincinnati Princeton, the team co-captain, and Don Osby from Steubenville. Fullbacks are Greg Harvey of Cincinnati Princeton and Dave Lowe of Zanesville. Chuck Pater from Hamilton Garfield is the other South co-captain.

Montreal May Save Franchise

MONTREAL (AP) — Montreal received encouraging news Thursday night when it was announced the city and sponsors of the proposed National League baseball expansion team had reached an agreement on the site of a temporary stadium.

Montreal Mayor Jean Drapeau emerged from a marathon four-hour meeting with sponsors, city officials and a high-ranking baseball representative and issued a brief one-minute statement to waiting reporters.

"After many hours of meetings I am pleased to inform everyone that we have succeeded in reaching a formula of agreement feasible to both parties," the mayor said.

He said the agreement "implies the use of Jarry Park stadium," a huge city-owned and operated park located in the north end of Montreal.

McLain Wins 23rd; Defeats Cleveland, 13-1

By MIKE RECHT

Associated Press Sports Writer
Many great pitchers have tried the climb toward the coveted 30-victory season in the last 34 years, and all have stumbled. Now along comes Denny McLain.

The 24-year-old right-hander for the Detroit Tigers took the 23rd step toward the top Thursday night, and he shows no sign of faltering.

McLain breezed through a six-hitter behind a 15-hit attack that buried Cleveland 13-1 for his fifth straight victory, and Detroit's fifth in a row.

With 50 games remaining, McLain has some 12 more starts to take those last seven steps, steps the Tigers are counting on to help them wrap up the American League pennant. No. 23 retained the Tigers' 6 1/2 game lead over Baltimore.

First Round Matches Held At Lansdowne

First round match play in the Upper Lansdowne Golf Links club tournament was completed last weekend at the course.

The second round is in progress and must be completed by Sunday.

Here are first round results:
Championship Flight — Ron Leatherwood over Bob Welsh Jr., Greg Peck over Chuck Hanes, Dick Buskirk over Eddie Reeves, Mike Binion over Ralph Amey, Gale Leatherwood over Bill Snyder, Ray Bullock over Kelly Leatherwood, Joe Leatherwood over Paul Ott, Garner Cox over Jim Gregg.

A Flight — Mike Neff over Herb Amey, Mike Seymour over Dick Robbins, Joe List over Van Gregg, Bob Roof over Dick Peters, Russ Gregg over Mark Leatherwood, Walt Baker over Chuck Allison; Herb Pettibone over Leonard Campbell; Dave Amey over E.J. Mallory.

C Flight — Jim Starkey over Marvin Dean, George Weller over Tom Copeland, Jim Riley over Terry Imier, Larry Barnett over P. Chess Tourney

CLEVELAND (AP) — A 20-year-old Newark, N.J. youth took the lead Thursday in the U.S. Junior Open Chess Tournament.

Steve Stoyko is one-half game ahead of defending champion David Lane, 18, of Shaker Heights, Ohio, after eight rounds of play.

The Orioles kept pace by belting four home runs that ruined Minnesota 10-3 for Baltimore's ninth victory in 11 games.

In other games, Ray Culp and Boston tripped the Chicago White Sox 1-0, Washington slugged California 7-2 and Oakland bounced the New York Yankees 6-4.

The last pitcher in the major leagues, to win 30 games was Dizzy Dean in 1934. Dean added 28 in 1935 and since then many have come close.

Hal Newhouser won 29 in one season, Robin Roberts won 28, Sandy Koufax, Billy Walters, Don Newcombe, Dizzy Trout and Bob Feller each won 27 and Carl Hubbell, Koufax, Newhouser and Feller each won 26.

McLain, who has lost only three times, seems to have a good chance to succeed where they failed. Along with a heavy-hitting club behind him, he has been almost untouchable on the mound.

The Cleveland run in the fourth inning was the first earned run off him in 32 innings.

Bill Freehan supplied most of the punch, hammering a three-run homer in a six-run third inning against Sonny Siebert, 11-9, and adding a solo blast, his 16th, in the eighth as Detroit swept the four-game set.

Winner Tom Phoebus, 13-10, started Baltimore's home run barrage with the first of three homers that produced five runs in the third inning against Jim Kaat, 8-8. Paul Blair slammed a three-run shot and Curt Motton hit a solo. Frank Robinson added his 10th in the fifth.

Phoebus went seven innings before Dave Leonhard took over with two on in the eighth.

Culp, 8-4, was the whole story for Boston, hurling a four-hitter and singling home the only run in the second inning as he outduelled Joe Horlen, 8-11. The victory was the eighth in nine games for the Red Sox and completed a four-game sweep of their series with the White Sox.

Ken McMullen hammered two homers for three runs and Han Allen stroked a two-run blast as Jim Hannan, 7-2, won his fourth in a row for Washington by scattering eight hits.

The Yankees were the victims of an umpire's judgment when pinch hitter Ted Kubiak broke a 4-4 tie in the eighth inning with a ground rule double that scored Reggie Jackson from first base.

Umpire Hank Soar ruled that Jackson would have scored, and allowed the run, precipitating a loud protest from New York manager Ralph Houk.

The Yankees once held a 4-1 lead built on Frank Fernandez' three-run homer.

Philadelphia Tops Dodgers, 1-0

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Strategically speaking, it wasn't the best of nights for managers Harry Walker and Dave Bristol. But there was no strategy in the world Walt Alston could use against Rick Wise and Rich Allen.

Wise pitched a brilliant one-hitter and Allen's 23rd homer gave Philadelphia a 1-0 victory over Los Angeles Thursday night. There was little Dodger Manager Alston could do about it.

But a bit of Walker's managerial maneuvering backfired as Pittsburgh beat Houston 4-3 and St. Louis shaded Cincinnati 1-0, collecting as many hits in one inning off Bristol's relief pitcher as they had in nine against his starter.

In the only other National League game scheduled Thursday, Chicago's Bill Hands shut out Atlanta 4-0.

Wise squared his record at 8-8, allowing only a bad-hop single by Bart Shirley in the third inning. The bounce broke off shortstop Roberto Pena's glove.

The young right-hander struck out five.

Bill Singer matched zeroes with Wise until the ninth when Allen opened with his 23rd homer, a long shot that landed in the center field pavilion at Dodger Stadium.

They haven't designed a strategy to battle one-hitters and home runs yet.

Unlike Alston, Walker had a fighting chance against the Pirates. Houston and Pittsburgh were tied at 3-3 in the ninth when Matty Alou walked with one out. After Fred Patek, who had homered earlier, struck out, Alou raced to second on a wild pitch.

Now Walker decided to walk

See Generally Good Fishing In Ohio's Lakes and Rivers

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Division of Wildlife said Thursday that reports from its fieldmen say all areas of Ohio indicate generally good fishing success, with the best fishing during the night hours and about dawn.

The outlook by areas:
Indian Lake — Good outlook for bluegill, channel catfish and crappies. Water is clear and a little high.

Hoover Reservoir — Below normal and clear. Walleye hitting on nightcrawlers at night around the twin bridges area. Best fishing 9 p.m. to 3 a.m.—good outlook.

Buckeye Lake — Clear and normal. Fishing slow. Some bass, catfish and carp.

Clearfork Reservoir — White bass and muskie outlook good. Charles Mill Reservoir—Good outlook for channel catfish running five to seven pounds.

Furgeson Reservoir—Good for yellow perch and some walleye. Clendening Reservoir—Large-mouth bass fishing improved. Catfish and bluegill fair.

Berlin Reservoir—Clear and normal fishing slow. Some crappies, perch, walleye and bullheads.

Mosquito Reservoir — Wall-eyes fair. Good outlook for night fishing.

Mogadore Reservoir—Best for good-sized muskies during early morning hours.

Tycoon Lake — Outlook good for largemouth bass. Water a little roily.

Piedmont Lake—Water roily. Muskies averaging 5 pounds being taken.

Lake Vesuvius — Channel catfish and largemouth bass fishing excellent on minnows.

Acton Lake—Clear and normal. Outlook good for crappies, bluegill, bass and channel catfish.

Lake St. Marys — Clear and normal. Fair outlook for crappies and catfish.

Rocky Fork Lake—Fair outlook for bluegill, carp, channel catfish and some bass.

Lake Erie—Reef areas continue to produce some walleye on weighted spinners and worms, fish just off the bottom. Pier fishing off Cleveland, Huron, and Lorain good for nice-sized yellow perch. Freshwater drum and white bass fishing continues to be good in most areas of the lake. Good outlook forecast, weather permitting.

Roberto Clemente, who has driven in 38 runs this season, and pitched instead to Donn Cledenon, who had 55 RBI.

Cledenon responded with a run-scoring single, breaking the tie and giving reliever Ron Kline his ninth victory in 10 decisions.

Denis Menke homered and doubled touching off a two-run game-tying rally for the Astros. Starters Ray Washburn of St. Louis and Tony Cloninger of Cincinnati locked up in a brilliant pitching duel, matching two-hit shutouts over the first nine innings.

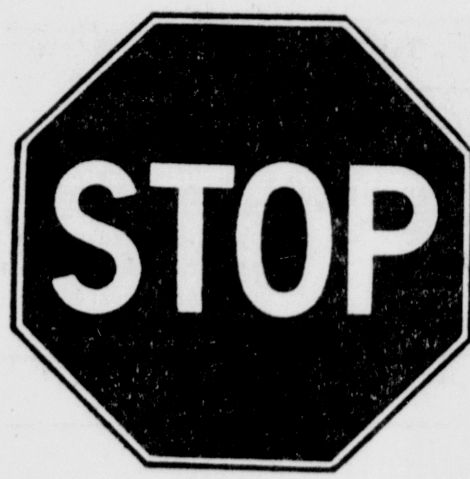

The Reds rallied in the 10th with Johnny Bench and Tony Perez stroking consecutive one-out singles. After Tommy Helms popped up, Washburn got Mack Jones on a fly ball, ending the threat.

Bristol, figuring Cloninger had gone far enough, brought on Clay Carroll. The Cards went down in the 10th but won it in the next inning when Bobby Tolan singled with one out and raced all the way home on Roger Maris' double.

Joe Hoerner, who took over for Washburn after the tough 10th, got credit for the victory and Carroll took the loss.

Billy Williams drove in two of Chicago's runs and Hands won his 13th game with a three-hitter over the Braves.

Williams' 16th homer gave Hands a quick lead and the Cub right-hander later scored two runs himself as Chicago regained second place in the National League standings.

Chicago Bears Could Be Top Team

By JERRY LISKA
Associated Press Sports Writer
RENSSELAER, Ind. (AP) — The Chicago Bears have two distinctive changes this season, which—plus the incomparable Gale Sayers—could menace the domineering Green Bay Packers in the National Football League race.

Energetic, intense and shrewd, Jim Dooley seems bursting at the seams to make a successful debut as head coach, succeeding Bear owner George S. Halas, who retired May 27 after 40 coaching years.

The other noteworthy Bear change is a Sept. 15 NFL season opener against the Washington Redskins at Wrigley Field, the first time in history the club has not played four or five road games before enjoying the home field advantage.

Dooley, handpicked by Halas from his staff, seems cut from the same football cloth as George Allen, another top Halas aide, who hired Papa Bear by leaving the Bears to become an instant head coaching success with the Los Angeles Rams.

Dooley, apparently given free reins by Halas, already has put to work his strategem of gung-ho, canny football. As the Bears whipped the Dallas Cowboys 30-24 in an exhibition opener last Saturday, Dooley blended the old tight double wing and balanced T.

He also has overhauled the Bear signal calling system which he said put too much burden on the quarterbacks and often "dominated their thinking." The new system for signal callers Jack Concannon, who should be a top NFL gunner this season, Larry Rakestraw and Rudy Bukich, will reduce the mental work load about 50 per cent, Dooley says.

"New blocking procedures also are tied in with the new signal calling routine in the huddle and scrimmage line audibles," said Dooley. "Putting this together with new shifts out of new formations, you can see we are only getting started," said Dooley.

The experimenting with various formations is aimed mainly at enhancing the running threat of Sayers, perhaps pro football's most thrilling ball carrier. "We hope to find a way to keep the defenses from stacking on Sayers," explained Dooley. "Previously, when he ran from the slot, everybody could unload on him. Now, using Gale as a middle man behind the center, a man-in-motion, or a flanker, we may keep the defense honest."

The victory over the Cowboys indicated the Bears may have come up with another superstar find in Cecil Turner, track ace flanker from California Poly.

Turner, sixth draft choice and NCAA college division 100-meter champion, scored on an 88-yard opening kickoff return and a 72-yard pass from Concannon in his pro debut.

Turner and rookie Bob Wallace of Texas El Paso join veterans Dick Gordon and Jimmy Jones as receivers. At tight end is seasoned Austin Denney. No. 1 draft choice, Mike Hull of Southern California, was tabbed at tight end.

But Hull may be diverted to his Trojan post, fullback, to bolster the running back department where Ronnie Bull, Ralph Kurek, Brian Piccolo and Andy Livingston still are trying to help out work-horse Sayers.

Linebackers Dick Butkus, Doug Buffone, Mike Reilly and Jim Purnell, and secondary backs Bennie McRae, Rosey Taylor, Richie Petitbone and Curtiss Genry provide a fine defensive corps beyond the line.

Strong defensive linemen are 285-pound Frank Cornish, Dick

Evey, Ed O'Bradovich and Lloyd Phillips.

However, the offensive line-men including Bob Pickens, Bob Wetoska, Randy Jackson, rookie Wayne Mass of Clemson, Mike Pyle, George Seals and Jim Cadille seem faced with the biggest challenge.

NEW COACH STRESSES OFFENSE — Jim Dooley, new coach of the Chicago Bears of the NFL, will hope to improve the club's 7-6-1 1967 record with more offense. The sensational Gale Sayers is back as well as quarterback Jack Concannon to spark the offense. Dick Butkus heads the defense and helped the club wind up second in three defense categories.

Residents Face Long Hard Job of Rebuilding Village

The flooding is past, but the shadow of the nightmare it brought lingers. Large parts of the village are still in need of repair or replacement — a job which both young and old must face. Booster Club To Hear Coach

Circleville High School Booster Club will hold a meeting 8 p.m. Wednesday in the high school cafeteria with new head grid mentor Denny Williams as guest speaker, according to Robert Liston, president of the club.

Failure To Yield Draws Fine in Court

Marjorie Ann Neff, 31, Adelphi, pleaded no contest in Circleville Municipal Court Thursday on a charge of failure to yield the right of way at an intersection.

Acting Judge Allan Berger found her guilty and fined her $20 and costs.

Three out-of-county motorists forfeited bonds totaling $77 in other municipal court action.

Election of officers will also take place. Liston urged all members and parents to attend this meeting.

Dedicate Street To Martin L. King

CHICAGO (AP) — Mayor Richard J. Daley dedicated Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. Drive Thursday and said the new name is "on behalf of all the people."

Unfurling a red and white bunting to reveal the new sign, the mayor said: "I dream of a city with a program like that which Dr. King dreamed of."

The street, formerly known as South Park Way and South Park Avenue, runs nearly 12 miles through predominantly Negro neighborhoods on the South Side.

Determination . . .

Hope for the future.

not followed. A nation that can't keep the peace at home won't be trusted to keep the peace abroad.

If we are to restore order and respect for law in this country there is one place to begin. We are going to have a new attorney general of the United States.

To those who say law and order is the code word for racism, this is our reply: Our goal is justice for every American.

Just as we cannot have progress without order; we cannot have order without progress. As we commit to order, let us commit to progress.

Private enterprise, far more effectively than the government, can provide the jobs, train the unemployed, build the homes, offer the new opportunities which will produce progress — not promises — in solving the problems of America.

Black Americans don't want more government programs which perpetuate dependency. They don't want to be a colony in a nation.

For most of us the American Revolution has been won; the American dream has come true. I ask you to help me make that dream come true for millions to whom it is an impossible dream today.

The time has come for us to leave the valley of despair and climb the mountain so that we may see the glory of the dawn — a new day for America, a new dawn for peace and freedom in the world.

EMERGENCIES
Tom Wood, 22, Columbus, lacerated the palm of his right hand on a soft drink bottle.
Brenda Myers, 3, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Myers, Williamsport, caught the third finger of her right hand in a screen causing lacerations.
Jeff Hunter, 6, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Hunter, 817 S. Washington St., lacerated the tip of his nose on a metal bar.
Lee Chattos, 8, son of Mr. and Mrs. Steve Chattos, Stoutsville, received contusions of his left foot when it was caught in a bicycle wheel.
Phillip Forson, 19, Ashville, was treated for foreign objects in both eyes.
Randy West, 10, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lonnie West, Laurelville, fractured his right wrist when he jumped from a swing set.

Joan Crawford's Daughter To Marry

NEW YORK (AP) — Actress-businesswoman Joan Crawford plans to go to Watertown, N.Y., for the Saturday wedding of her adopted daughter, Cathy, to Jerome LeLonde, of Clayton, N.Y.

Cathy Crawford, 21, is the youngest of four children adopted by the former actress. LeLonde, 23, is in the Navy and is slated to report for training after a month's honeymoon.

Mayor Gerhardt Coordinator for Demo Confab

Circleville Mayor Richard L. Gerhardt has been appointed Public Officials Coordinator for the Young Citizens for Humphrey at the Democratic National Convention Aug. 12 in Chicago.

Mayor Gerhardt left Thursday for Chicago to assume his duties of coordinating the activities of the public officials with that of the Convention.

In his absence, Mayor Gerhardt has asked Joseph Bell, president of the Circleville City Council, to serve as acting Mayor.

Stoutsville To Elect Village Head

An election of officials for the newly incorporated Village of Stoutsville will be held at the general election on November 5.

Officials to be elected are a mayor, clerk-treasurer, and six village councilmen. All officials will serve for a period of one year and will run again for election in November of 1968.

Nominating petitions for those wishing to seek election must be filed by 4 p.m. on September 5, with the Fairfield County Board of Elections. Petitions are available at the business and residence of Paul Keller in Stoutsville.

The village of about 578 population is located in Clearcreek Twp. of Fairfield County. It was incorporated in June of this year.

Logan Elm School Board Completes Teaching Staff

Contracts for twelve teachers were granted during a busy session of the Logan Elm School Board during its regular meeting.

The teachers employed were as follows: Washington Elementary — Karen Adkins, grade three; Ethel Maze, grade one; Mary May, art, Salter Creek Elementary — Gene Massie, seventh grade; Charlotte West, grade five, Pickaway Elementary — Marian Hood, grade four; Barbara Martindale, grade three; Valerie Wilson, grade five, Logan Elm High School — Donald Burger, Science; Michael Cochran, Social Studies; Larry Palmblade, English; John Kidzon, Music.

Superintendent John Henn reported to the board no vacancies exist and all teaching assignments have been determined.

For the first time a special education class will be offered in the district. Students from Washington and Salter Creek will be transported to Pickaway School for special instruction. The Pickaway building was selected to house the class because it is the only elementary building with space available. Even though one additional classroom was renovated and will provide room for an additional class at Washington and Salter Creek, these two buildings are filled to capacity.

EMPLOYMENT of non-certificated personnel included offering a one-year contract to Thomas Kyle, bus driver, and to teachers aides, Mrs. Ned Kraft for grades seven and eight at Washington School and Mrs. Donald Driesbach for sixth and seventh grades at Pickaway.

Bus driver assignments were made in anticipation of delivery of the newly purchased buses. The new buses will be assigned to dual routes in an effort to better utilize them and to save maintenance expenses by placing older buses on single routes.

Authorization was given Goble Branham, Federal Assistance Director, to file forms for final payment under P.L. 874. Copies of the Title I remedial reading program application (which contain a lease purchase of a mobile laboratory) were studied and approved.

In other board action, bids were studied, discussed and awarded as follows: gasoline and oil, Marathon; bread, buns, etc., Ohio Valley Baking; milk and novelties, Blue Ribbon Dairy; duplicating supplies, Thompson Company; bus insurance, Hatfield Agency; T. D. Van Camp submitted the low quotation for black topping areas at all schools in the district.

The board voted to place a four mill renewal levy on the ballot in November. This will mean no new increase in taxes but will enable the school board to maintain the present level of education.

The budget rate of 18.40 operating and 2.00 bond retirement, the lowest total school tax in the County, 20.40, along with a reduced budget as submitted to the county auditor, was adopted. However, it was noted that due to a $30,000 loss of State foundation money, more operating funds will be needed in the near future.

NEGOTIATION procedure ratified by the teachers were adopted as part of board policy to remain in effect until December 31, 1969.

Board Clerk, Thelma Trimmer, was authorized to obtain an advance draw of $78,180 in order to pay current bills, payroll and in anticipation of the delivery of the three new school buses which cost a total of $21,279.

Progress reports were given to the board members regarding the summer building maintenance program, masonry work, repair and renovation, exterior and interior painting.

Riot Report Is Readied In Cleveland

CLEVELAND (AP)—A report on last month's racial disturbances on the city's East Side will be released today by Mayor Carl B. Stokes.

City officials who have seen the report said Thursday it endorses Stokes' decision to withdraw white policemen and National Guard troops from the trouble area July 24.

Ten persons, including three white policemen, were killed July 23 after snipers opened fire on a tow truck operator in the Glenville area.

The National Guard was ordered into the city but was kept out of the Glenville area the next night so Negro peacemakers and Negro policemen could patrol the streets.

Stokes was severely criticized by rank-and-file police for his refusal to allow white policemen into the district that night.

City officials said the report will deal with the Glenville incident and what led up to it. It will also give a National Guard estimate of looting as being minimal and set property damage at about $2 million and destroyed property at approximately $700,000.

The report will also analyze what took place July 23 and the days that followed until the National Guard was finally withdrawn July 28.
